

URORS CALLED FOR CITY HALL CASE SATURDAY

Twelve to Be Impaneled
In Steve Cosgarea
Liquor Hearing

ELLING WITHOUT PERMIT IS COUNT

Trial by Jury First of Kind in City Hall
In Many Years

The city will try Steve Cosgarea, proprietor of the Salem House, by jury at 2 p. m. Saturday in city hall on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor without a license.

The occasion marks the first time at a jury trial has been ordered in the city for many years.

Pleads Not Guilty
Cosgarea pleaded not guilty to the charge when arraigned before Mayor Norman Phillips Monday afternoon and bond was posted at $100.

Only 12 of the 16 persons subpoenaed for jury duty early this week will hear the Cosgarea case. The jury members will be dismissed just before the trial gets under way, two by the defense and two by the city.

The defendant was arrested Sunday night by Chief of Police Ralph Stoffer and assisting patrolmen on a pint of whiskey "caught" from Cosgarea. Several empty cans were confiscated by police at the same time.

To War On Violators
Mayor Phillips, indicating that he intends to carry on his "war" against illicit liquor sales, Tuesday asked council for an appropriation of $100 to be put in a fund to be used in "buying" drinks from alleged liquor violators. Council approved the measure.

The mayor at the same time urged state and federal officers not giving the proper assistance in running down the bootlegger.

Is Very Apparent That John and Sally Are Going To Pay!

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 23.—If the income tax bill becomes law in the form passed by the house, John O. Citizen will have two income taxes to worry about when next March rolls around, one for Uncle Sam and another for Ohio's treasurer.

Suppose John O. Citizen is happily married, gets his salary check of $300 monthly and turns it over to his wife to run the household for him and their three youngsters. He pays a state income tax, with exemptions, of $12.

If at the end of 1934, his twin brother James received a raise that raised his yearly salary to $5,000 and wise investments still continued to return him $5,000 annually—James also being married and having one dependent—the return would be for $354, a tax of $54 on a salary and $300 on his unearned income.

Miss Sally Q. Buckeye, a stenographer-secretary whose salary reaches $2500 a year and who has dependents, would pay a tax on $900 amounting to $35.

If she had some good stocks that are returning her $2,000 a year and paid another $75 on unearned income.

Going back to John O. Citizen—he would pay out in sales taxes for beer approximately $60 if he and his family spent $2,000 for food, clothing and other taxable articles.

HOUSE ADOPTS SALES, INCOME TAX, SENATE MAY ACT NEXT WEEK

Program to Produce $78,500,000 in Revenue;
Continuation of One-Cent Liquid Fuel
Tax Is Approved

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 23.—Adopted by the house in a decisive vote, a $78,500,000 revenue-raising program including a three per cent bracket sales tax, a personal income tax and a continuation of the one-cent liquid fuel tax went to the senate today to complete its legislative round.

The senate taxation committee first was to study the house-adopted measures urged by Governor George White and it was believed the senate would not be ready for action until next week.

The senate also is to act on the measure passed by the house last spring to increase the excise tax on public utilities, the fourth of the governor's program bills.

The sales tax won house approval 75 to 25 after it had been defeated six times over the governor's pleas that it was the only salvation for Ohio's schools, poor relief and municipal aid.

In its wake, however, came renewed protests from Mayor Henry Worley of Columbus, head of a newly-formed league of municipal officials that it failed to allocate sufficient funds to aid municipalities.

The sales tax, as well as the other measures adopted, would be effective only during 1935 in which time it was estimated the tax would yield $60,000,000. The next assembly could, if it wished, extend the life of the bills.

Mrs. Ila Marshall Cronin, Columbiana county's representative, voted for the passage of the sales tax.

The state would collect one cent tax on sales from nine to 39 cents inclusive; two cents on sales from 40 to 69 cents; and three cents on sales from 70 cents to $1, with corresponding brackets for parts of a dollar above $1.

EXEMPTION LIMITS ARE FIXED

A single person would get exemption for $1,000, the head of a family for $2,500 and each dependent would bring $400 exemption up to a total of $3,000.

The liquid fuel tax re-enactment, which would bring $10,000,000 was voted 95 to 7.

The excise utility tax boost would bring an addition $3,000,000.

Democrats voting for the sales tax numbered 47 and against 13. Republicans for were 28 and against 12.

Voting for the income tax were 58 Democrats and 31 Republicans. Voting against were three Democrats and 10 Republicans.

Of the $60,000,000 estimated revenue from the sales tax, $10,000,000 would be earmarked for old age pensions, $6,000,000 for relief, $5,000,000 to pay off outstanding poor relief bonds, $25,000,000 for a state school fund, and the remainder to go to county budget commissions to be distributed on the basis of population and a five year average tax duplicate to cities, villages, townships and other subdivisions.

Of the $8,500,000 income tax field, 50 per cent would go to a state school fund and 50 per cent to the counties for their local school districts. The liquid fuel tax yield would go to poor relief.

Proponents of the tax fought off attempts to gain exemptions for food and milk.

The Ohio farm bureau, holding a convention here, also urged that milk be exempted.

SENATE CONFIRMS APPOINTMENTS

Senate Marks Time
The senate itself did little, marking time while waiting house action.

It confirmed 16 of Governor White's 19 recess appointments despite reports it would not. Included among the confirmed appointees were John C. Thompson of Cincinnati as a member of the liquor control board; H. S. Atkinson of Columbus as a trustee of Ohio State university; Ray Lawrence of Mahoning county and Ray E. Miller of Muskingum county to the conservation council and Alma Zinsinger of Stark county and George H. Gessner of Mahoning county to the Kent state board of trustees.

The senate was to consider today the appointments of Gordon K. Bush and Fred Beckler, both of Athens, to the Ohio university board of trustees.

The senate also adopted a measure which would make it a misdemeanor to bid on public contracts without complying with NRA and ORA requirements, after removing

Fan Dancing Wife, Husband End Lives

DETROIT, Nov. 23.—An attempt to reach a marital reconciliation ended early this morning in the death of George A. Phillips, 26, and his fan dancer wife, Hilda, 22.

Police found Phillips dying and his wife dead as their sedan rolled up over the curb and stopped.

Each had a bullet wound in the head.

Phillips died at Receiving hospital.

Two pairs of dancing shoes were found in the car. Mrs. Minnie Phillips, the dead man's mother, told police the young couple had separated because Phillips objected to his wife's fan and show dancing in beer gardens.

Police found a 38 calibre revolver in the car.

Lisbon Maps Plans For Union Service

LISBON, Nov. 23.—The Union Thanksgiving service here this season will be held in the Nazarene church, commencing at 8:30 a. m. Thursday, it has been announced by the Lisbon Ministerial association.

This is the first year this church has joined in this service. Rev. C. B. Woods, pastor of the Nazarene church will preside, assisted by other local ministers. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. J. Morgan Cox of the Presbyterian church.

NATIONS REACH "UNDERSTANDING"

French, Russian Relations
Closer, Parliament
Is Informed

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Nov. 23.—The French chamber of deputies today voted to spend approximately $427,000,000 for military purposes next year, after it had been told that Germany was preparing for war and that Russia would back up France in the event war came.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—A budget reporter informed the French parliament today that Russia had offered France its huge army in the event of conflict with Germany, although government officials termed his description of the circumstances as "exaggerated."

The announcement of an "offer" was made by Leon Archimbaud, the reporter for the finance committee, is presenting France's war budget to the legislature.

Growing Closer
The officials said the relations between France and Russia are growing steadily closer but that "there are no military agreements."

They said "it would take ten years before the pre-war Franco-Russian relations" could be revived.

"Russia has a strong and well-equipped army which she offers us in case of conflict with Germany," stated Archimbaud. "Reichsfuehrer Hitler of Germany does not observe the (Versailles) treaty."

"Russia gave us the first warning and an understanding is arranged between us."

He pictured Russia's huge military machine working with France as "the only means" of maintaining the peace of Europe.

Col. Jean Fabry, former minister of war, asserted that France's knowledge of German rearmament, the details of German troops, and information regarding the secret manufacture of arms and airplanes in Germany came from Russia.

Fort Must Be Defended
The huge steel and concrete network of forts facing the Rhine, said Deputy Andre Beaumette, "cost four billion francs but are useless unless they are defended." He said that one fort, which needed at least 500 men, was manned by four men and a corporal.

He told the chamber of deputies that Germany was supposed to have 100,000 troops concentrated just across the Rhine. "If these 100,000 were thrown without warning against our fortifications," he declared, "they would break through."

Colonel Fabry stated: "There are this moment more than 600,000 men in German barracks. More and more, special automobile highways are built up to the Rhine and five new bridges have been constructed."

He said that the one year service period must be increased unless re-enlistment brought enough trained men to form the framework of a wartime army.

"War material," declared Colonel Fabry, "can be had with money but there must be men. France must love its army and it wants a strong army. The army must be the beloved child of the nation."

Salem Boy Pledged To Ohio Fraternity

Several hundred men students at Ohio State university are now wearing new fraternity pins as the result of recent campus initiations. Among these is Lionel R. Smith of Salem, pledged to Delta Theta Sigma.

He said that the one year service period must be increased unless re-enlistment brought enough trained men to form the framework of a wartime army.

"War material," declared Colonel Fabry, "can be had with money but there must be men. France must love its army and it wants a strong army. The army must be the beloved child of the nation."

Three Lives Are Charged Off To Grand Sum Of $23

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 23.—Three lives were charged off today to $23.

The dead: Stephen Huntley, 74-year-old farmer who had the money.

Herbert Thacker, 21, and Raymond Freeman, 25, two farm "boys" who got it.

Thacker and Freeman died in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary last night for beating to death Huntley in a $23 robbery in Jackson county last June 4.

Meet Dead Calmly
Their faces red from crying and each clasping a Bible, they stepped into the chair without uttering a word and met death calmly after confessing to Christianity and being baptized.

Thacker was the first to go. Dressed in dark suit, white shirt and black tie, he received the elec-

$290,000,000 Will Go To National Defense In One Year

(By Associated Press)
TOKYO, Nov. 23.—Japan met "the international situation" today—the Oriental empire granted its army and navy the most money ever allotted its military machines.

More than one billion yen (about $200,000,000) will go to the national defense in one year. This is 46 per cent of the total budget of 2,210,000,000 yen (a p. r. x. i. m. a. t. e. $440,000,000) and a 9 per cent increase over the current appropriation.

A weary cabinet which had been in session for 14 hours approved the figures this morning, ending the long and heated "battle of the budget." It was a victory for the army and navy, who had fought with propaganda for months for larger and better equipped forces.

General Senjuro Hayashi, minister of war, threatened to resign if his demands were not met. He and Admiral Mineo Osumi, minister of the navy, told the cabinet "the international situation must be considered."

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The British and American delegations to the preliminary naval conversations agreed between themselves today to insist on the continuance of the Washington naval treaty of 1922.

The representatives of the United States and Great Britain met together and decided to ask the delegation from Japan, the third party to the conversations, for a further explanation of why the Asiatic Island empire thinks it should have as large a navy as either the United States or Great Britain.

Both the Anglo-Saxon delegations made it clear that they had no intention whatsoever of granting Japan the tonnage equality which she demands.

NEW NURSING CLASS FORMING
Requirements Are Listed by City Hospital School

The first class to be enrolled within the last three years was admitted to the Salem City hospital school of nursing this fall. It has been announced that another class will be enrolled February 5.

Miss Catherine Flick, Miss Catherine Blythe and Miss Letitia Vincent from Salem and Miss Theima McKenzie of Columbiana, Miss Leila Pabon of Hanoverton and Miss Jane Connors of Lisbon composed the class which was enrolled this fall.

Returning this week after nine months in the Cleveland City hospital, where they became familiar with theory, practical medical work, children's diseases and obstetrics are Miss Margaret Steel, Miss Margaret Negey and Miss Margaret Calvin.

The Salem City hospital's School of Nursing is a school accredited by the state board of nurse examiners and graduates are eligible for registration in Ohio.

There will be five nurses from Salem eligible to take the state examination at Columbus Dec. 6 and 7.

To enroll in the Salem City hospital School of Nursing one is required to be a high school graduate to be between the ages of 18 and 35, and to have a complete physical examination.

Application for admittance in the February class may be made by seeing Miss Esther Wilson, superintendent of the hospital, or Miss Mary Louise Tracy, director of the nursing school.

Find Babies' Bodies In Teacher's Trunk

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 23.—A charge of homicide placed against Miss Ruby Clarke, 36, of Nyack, N. Y., after the bodies of three infants were found in a trunk which belonged to her, was dismissed today.

Miss Clarke, attractive former school teacher, had been held without bail since Tuesday night, when she returned voluntarily from a hunting trip in upstate New York after police informed her of the discovery of the bodies.

Miss Clarke had stored the trunk in which the bodies were found in a Brooklyn warehouse in the summer of 1932. The trunk contained only odds and ends when she stored it, she said.

Columbiana County School Buses Okay

Four Columbiana county school buses found unsafe for operation in a recent inspection by the state highway patrol have been rendered safe, the patrol reported today after a follow-up inspection. The Associated Press says.

Drivers of the 36 buses all have chauffeurs' licenses now, the patrol reported, whereas two were without such licenses at the time of the first examination.

TROY, Nov. 23.—Frank Furrow, 41, met death by electrocution when an electric lamp on which he was working, became short-circuited by a damp concrete floor.

His brother, George, attempted to pull him away and was severely burned. Another workman jerked the plug from the socket to release him.

VARYING VIEWS HERALD BATTLE OVER RECOVERY

Housing, at Present, Rock
On Which Waves of Opinion Break

ICKES DIFFERS WITH MOFFETT

How Quickly, He Asks,
Will Private Business
Take Hold?

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Clashing viewpoints within the government and outside emphasized today the prospect of momentous struggles in which the winners will be decided by President Roosevelt, by congress, and perhaps by the direction of the business curve.

For the moment at least, housing is the rock on which waves of opinion break most sharply. Secretary Ickes, PWA chief, has just outlined the possibilities of a housing-for-recovery campaign which, in several respects, is strikingly different from the drive being conducted by James A. Moffett, housing administrator.

Believes PWA Could Help
Ickes, speaking of the potentialities and not of a sure thing, indicated his belief that PWA could hasten employment and help exercise the mortgage bugaboo by pouring out large sums on new, inexpensive houses. He spoke of long-term contracts directly between the government and the home owners, with interest of 3 per cent.

Many spokesmen for business and banking oppose the idea of the government's taking such a direct part in housing. Rallying leaders of such organizations as the chamber of commerce of the United States behind him, Moffett is pressing the campaign in which new homes are built with money furnished by private agencies. The government merely sets the basic maximum interest rate at 5 per cent, and arranges insurance on mortgages up to 80 per cent of assessed value.

S. H. Hartman, president of the chamber of commerce, picture such a drive as one belittling to lead the nation out of the economic morass, just as automobiles led the way out of another depression.

Ickes raised the question how quickly and how effectively private business would take hold in this field. While PWA would welcome large investments of private capital in housing, he said, there is no evidence of such a trend.

Can't Wait Indefinitely
"The government is not looking for any extra work and responsibilities," he declared yesterday, "but we can't sit around indefinitely waiting for private capital to come in. We must go ahead on the basis of present conditions."

Ickes expressed the opinion the government can build better and cheaper homes than private capital "on one straight mortgage at 3 per cent." He spoke of costs as low as $1,600 a dwelling, possible elimination of down payments, and perhaps an agreement whereby union labor might cut hourly wage rates in return for more money per year.

Most observers believe that the issue is one of several on which the trend of business will have great bearing. If it picks up sharply by the time the next congress reaches its point of decision, it is said, pressure for government outlays will relax.

That the state of business will have strong influence, also, on the problem likewise was emphasized by Chairman Buchanan ("D. Texas") of the house appropriations committee. Although he saw "not a reasonable chance" of balancing the budget for the 1936 fiscal year unless belief funds are curtailed, he said:

"Continued recovery will increase revenues and lessen the need for tax legislation, because expenditures would decrease. I hope there will be no need for a new tax bill, but if one is passed in the coming congress it won't be a big one that will interfere with recovery. I hope we can get around it."

Tip To St. Peter

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 23.—"Mexico, Mo.—Tom Bass, well-known Negro horseman, aged 75, died here today."

"Don't mean much to you, does it? You'd have all seen society folks perform on a beautiful three or five-gaited saddle horse, and said, 'My, what skill and patience they must have had to train that animal.' Well, all they did was ride him in. All Tom Bass did was to train him."

For over 50 years America's premier trainer, he trained thousands that others were applauded on. A remarkable man, a remarkable character. Many Negroes have been great horsemen; every big ranch has its traditional stories of what its famous Negro rider used to do.

If old St. Peter is as wise as we give him credit for being, Tom, he will let you go in horseback and give those folks up there a great show, and you get the blue ribbon yourself.

Yours,
P. S.: That little Vanderbilt girl sure had a tough break. She has to live with both of 'em.

STILL MUDDLED

Donald R. Richberg, chairman of the executive council of NRA, has attempted to clear up majority and minority rights of labor under Section 7-A of the national industrial recovery act, but without success. This is due not so much to Mr. Richberg's exposition of his beliefs on the matter, but to the fact he was speaking only as an individual. There still is no official interpretation.

The now celebrated Houde Engineering Co. case, in which the national labor board ruled that an organization winning a majority of votes in an election shall represent all employees in the group for purposes of collective bargaining, still stands as the contested official ruling. The department of justice has promised speedy action on this case in the federal courts. Out of the suit is expected to emerge a legal definition of collective bargaining and of majority rule in employee representation.

It is Mr. Richberg's "personal" opinion that "the right of self-organization certainly includes the right of each man to decide for himself with what man he desires to be associated." This right does not seem to permit any challenge. It is a fundamental political privilege of citizenship. The minority, with certain exceptions peculiar to current conditions, is considered as necessary as the majority. Here, again, Mr. Richberg seems to be thinking straight. "If a vote is held," he declares, "in which men voluntarily participate for the purpose of selecting their representatives, then, unless those chosen by the majority are to be accepted as representing the entire electorate, there can be no orderly method of collective action." This is precisely what happens in every election. It was demonstrated with unusual clarity in the voting early this month. Democrats will speak for most of the people; Republicans, however, are not denied the right to represent a minority.

THE GENERAL IDEA

It's a brave person who, without special information, attempts to follow the ins and outs of negotiations on naval limitation. The subject is understandable only by the most boastful of experts, and even their grasp of facts varies according to individual opinions.

There is, however, a possibility of getting the general idea of naval limitation without even so much as being concerned over Great Britain's light cruiser strength or the age of obsolescence. Conversations among the United States, Great Britain and Japan in London make the matter timely.

Japan, it is well known, is participating in the conversations, not to facilitate further agreements but to demonstrate the reasons why, from its viewpoint, further agreements are impossible. The Japanese are prepared to put an end to naval agreements for the time being. They are going about it as politely as possible.

The United States and Great Britain, understanding Japan's position, are maneuvering for advantage. They are talking to be heard when there is someone listening. Termination of naval agreements, which means Japan's freedom from treaty restrictions in the Pacific, probably will have the effect of throwing the United States and Great Britain closer together.

It is valuable to remember that the Washington conference, which instituted international limitation of naval strength, was called to halt a naval race. After the World war, governments were mad with ambition. The United States and Japan had increased their tonnage to a point where it threatened the supremacy of the British navy. No one knew where it would stop. Apparently, governments were ready to bankrupt themselves, if necessary, to gain strength on the seas.

The Washington conference gave them an opportunity to come back to their senses. By various means, it furnished assurance of security. One of these means was establishment of a 5-5-3 battleship ratio, with Japan on the short end.

It is this ratio which is Japan's ostensible objection to the existing naval treaty. Japan demands the right to have as much naval strength as either the United States or Great Britain. However, since Japan has no need for equal strength merely to defend its own territory, neither of its powerful neighbors ever will consent to inclusion of such an arrangement in a treaty.

Japan will not hesitate over a quibble. It will discard the Washington treaty, the London treaty and, very likely, the pacts on which they depend. The whole question of control of the Pacific ocean will be thrown into argument. The naval race which was interrupted after the World war will be resumed. Such an event, combined with the failure of all attempts to apply curbs to land armament, would signify the virtual collapse of the whole post-war movement for arms reduction.

THE STARS SAY

For Saturday, November 24

A lively and possibly very exciting and adventurous day may be looked for according to the predominant planetary configurations. It is probable that this unusual activity may be confined to the realm of the home, in social, artistic or romantic engagements, in all of which a degree of reserve would not prove amiss, as high pressure conduct or nervous tension might prove disquieting or annoying. There is a sign of favorable contracts with important interests, and with gain through writings or speculation.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a very lively and exciting year in the domestic circle, with the interests largely centered on social, artistic or affectional engagements, although there is a hint of discord or regret if too much pressure is indulged in this direction. All pertaining to writings may flourish, new contracts and business are in order and speculations may prove profitable.

A child born on this day should be versatile, intellectual and artistically inclined, with many talents and graces making for success and happiness in life.

Notable nativity: Richard Croker, Tammany boss.

O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—Thoughts while strolling: Marc Connelly returns, like Brock Pemberton, from theatrical exile, with a smash hit. Will Rogers has become America's No. 1 air traveler. Can't get the rascal on a train any more. Those Zim Weary Willie types of sandwich men.

Difficult to tell which is the greatest attraction, the Empire building or its famous tenant, Al Smith. Lou Little in a fireman's hat is another Ed Wynn. Elmer Davis and Edwin C. Hill are a couple of Aurora. Ind. lads, for whom they'll be putting up plaques. One word description of Neyssa McMullen—languid.

Those boys with the bulging underlip get along all right. For instance: Irvin Cobb, Maurice Chevalier, George Gershwin and Jack Benny. Gene Raymond has become the best dressed dude in the movies. Suggestion for a night club: Helen Morgan and Lucienne Boyer sitting on the same piano.

Wonder if William Rhineland Stewart ever gets by 7 p. m. without a stiff white shirt? Jack Wheeler is another one of the white heads. And Fred Astaire is the newest big click on the screen Jim McCabe of San Francisco's St. Francis. Those Chenz this and that side street cafes.

Frank Sullivan has become a Sutton Placer with a side-whiskered British valet and everything. Morley's nadir description of a safety pin—"the hyphen of raiment." Mitz Green's mimicry of George Arliss is a classic. Gertrude Stein seems gertrude seems stein—if you know what I mean.

Raymond G. Tawefort, a ringier for Warren Williams and fashion chairman for the American tailors, breaks out on an avenue in this sort of sartorial dazzle: Soft brown worsted coat with pleated trousers of brown hound's tooth checks. A fawn toned streamline vest, saved off and double breasted, a wing collar with striped bat tie, gray brown derby, light chamois gloves and brown Oxfords.

People whose hearts skip beats, flutter furiously in excitement and do occasional nip-ups will be interested in the cardiac history of H. G. Wells and his family. The novelist has had that sort of a trick ticker all his remembering days. So had his father, two brothers and several uncles. All of them, save Mr. Wells, keeled over and went out like a flash, but not one until long past his 70th year and some were in the 80's and he hopes to pass out just as fortunately.

The Jimmy Walkers and the Michael Arlens have become a familiar London foursome. They are to be seen at the same table frequently at Simpson's, the Savoy or Claridge's. Arlen is riding the crest of a fresh literary popularity with his most recent blood and thunder travesty, "Hell! Said the Duchess."

Professional dancers. It seems to me, have the most striking beautiful names in the public eye. Prettiest of all is Kendall Lee. With Joan Sawyer a runner up. Then there were Irene Castle, Barbara Bennett, Eleanor Ambrose, Mae Murray, Marjorie Moss, Yolande, Margaret Hawksworth, Claire Lupe, Leonore Hughes, Bessie McCoy, Harriet Hootor and others as beautiful.

The most relentless reader of the mystery novel is the humorist Will Cuppy. He has devoured the entire output for 15 years. Sometimes he reads two or three a night—night is the only time mysteries are worth a hoot—and sleeps all day. The late Otto Kahn was insatiable in his thirst for the shocker. And Chief Justice Hughes never makes a train trip without being well fortified with the detective tale.

Danger in Influenza

Health of the family is our greatest concern. Yet the need of medical attention is often overlooked until some member of the family has become seriously ill. Often the illness can be traced to neglect of so simple a thing as a cough or cold.

Neglect of influenza may lead to bronchitis, pneumonia or real pneumonia. Influenza is common at this time of year. It is often mistaken for a cold. Only by its early recognition and prompt medical attention can serious complications be avoided.

The symptoms of influenza are sudden headache, backache and pains in the eyes. The sufferer may resort to some home remedy. Unfortunately his self-medication is unsuccessful and fever soon appears. The fever may not be high, but persisting for several days, it causes great weakness and prostration.

Dangerous Complications
As a rule the victim of influenza complains of a tired and exhausted feeling. This symptom should always arouse suspicion. Sensations of chill, bluish lips, pale skin and cold extremities are other signs that must not be overlooked.

Since influenza weakens the protection of the body against germs, it is important that every precaution be taken to prevent further infection and possible complications. For this reason it is advisable that the afflicted person avoid crowded places, such as trains, offices, theaters and street cars. This will protect the sufferer as well as guard others from contracting the disease.

I can think of no better advice for the influenza patient than to go to bed immediately. He should drink plenty of water. Alkaline drinks and fruit juices are beneficial. Daily bowel elimination should be encouraged and when necessary a saline laxative or enema should be taken.

If the fever persists and the sufferer complains of a hacking cough and pain in the chest, immediate medical attention is imperative. Bear in mind that pneumonia is a common and dreaded complication of this disease and should be guarded against.

Head Warning Signs
Never neglect any infection or disorder of the upper respiratory passages. Colds, coughs and general weakness are warning signs that must not be overlooked. This, as I have said, is the season for colds which, if neglected, may lead to serious infections and complications in the tissues of the lungs.

If you have a cold, get to bed promptly and do not hesitate to call the family doctor. This is the only safe means for protection against other more serious respiratory diseases. The patient needs quiet rest and proper care and he cannot obtain these in the office or the shop. In this way, too, he is protecting others against the infection.

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

SENATOR SMEDLEY D. BUTLER, of Ohio, states that he gives addresses to gentlemen in the street who, he says, asked him to march on Washington with a group of veterans and form a republic. He said that he was not a Mussolini-Stalin-Peana-Hitler. Those wicked, and outrageous Wall Street were prepared to make it the senator's while. Gen. Butler spurned them, and according to his friends, said that Gen. Johnson, of NRA, was selected for United States dictatorship. Gen. Johnson was questioned about that his language did not mean. Said he: "I had better be pretty careful. If anybody said to me about dictatorship, I would turn him out of the window." Nobody may have been doing Gen. Butler. In any case, we are a long way from dictatorship here. Wall Street for any other brand. And of course, under the Stars and Stripes, Wall Street would have to fear from dictatorship.

THORITIES of the Serbian Church have decided to the King Alexander, recently died, because, having died "a hero to the nation," he deserves to be included among the saints. Serbian newspaper, "Varda," a picture of Christ welcoming Alexander to sit at his right in the Kingdom of Heaven. The saints are in heaven, some like King Alexander, and others of humility and never 22 millions to other countries, Alexander did. Of those well-established some of them in heaven for a thousand years, will make way for the new saint? More being shut seem too easy a way of securing a glorious seat for all.

TO MEN are invited to rejoice in the news.

Wilder D. Bancroft, teacher of chemistry at Cornell University, has announced that he has discovered a new element.

Small doses of sodium rhodanate prolong life at least 20 years," said the National Academy of Sciences.

He discussed that statement, and pointed the wisdom of "prolonging life for the average man," and in mind, perhaps, the sad when he is forsaken.

He said that condition, he certainly does not want to swallow rhodanate and go on living.

All nature's kindnesses, death is the greatest, ending disappointment, wiping out debt, forgiving, and offering another chance.

Small rhodanate is for men that strain that they have a useful and are attending to it.

How To Keep Your Linens In First-Class Condition

NO MATTER how fine the contents of the linen closet, care and constant vigilance must be exercised if the linen is to be kept in first-class condition. Before it goes to the laundry, each piece should be thoroughly examined for possible stains or torn places. Every article should be carefully mended, if it is necessary, and care should be taken to discover any thin spots, for these worn places are liable to become holes during the washing process.

POINTED SLEEVES ADD COMFORT TO A CHIC DRESS Pattern 1928

Do you look and look for house frocks which combine slenderizing lines with comfortable cut? Then you should need no verbal prodding in order to appreciate the chic of this cleverly tailored frock. Its bodice closes in a flattering surplice line, its skirt is hung upon a nicely pointed yoke—its sleeves with their pointed shoulders are as smart as they are comfortable. And over and above all, there are no fussy little extra details to catch and tear as you do your work. Make the frock with a pretty buttoned-on cover of a contrasting color, or if you prefer omit it—the dress is just as smart either way.

Pattern 1928 is available in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 36 takes 3 3/4 yards 36 inch fabric and one-half yard contrasting. When They Begin to Wear

When table linen begins to get a little threadbare, here is a good time to bring the trusty sewing machine—something which should be in every well-regulated home—into play. Set the machine to a fairly large stitch and stitch across and from end to end of the worn part. This method is infinitely stronger and more durable than hand darning and less trying on the eyes. If there should be a stain, soak the spot and the surrounding area in cold water. Never allow the article to be washed without at first attempting to eradicate the stain by this cold water method, for cold water is efficacious for almost every variety of stain except ink.

A scorch stain will nearly always yield to this treatment, even if they do take about three days of soaking before they are gone. Wring out and dry in sunshine if possible. Lipstick stains have become a real problem now—75c, or they appear on towels and table napkins, while the habit of using face creams at night has worked havoc with pillow cases. Lipstick stains will go if they are soaked immediately they appear, while the grease of the skin food or complexion cream will be cut by a cold water soaking.

But whatever the stain may be, don't resort to chemicals before trying the method of a good soaking in cold water. If the linen has been stored for some time and there are mildew stains, these should also be soaked and, if possible, dried in the open air. A rubbing with fuller's earth as well as the cold water cure is advisable. And when it is advisable to wash it before using as the dressing in new fabrics often fixes stains and soil, making them very difficult to eradicate. Wash new things thoroughly dry and iron carefully first.

G. O. P. MAJORITY IN OHIO COURT

2 New Republicans, One New Democrat To Take Office

(By International News Service) COLUMBUS, O. — Within a week or ten days, Republican judges of the Ohio supreme court once more will be in the majority. Three of the seven incumbent judges will step down from the bench to make way for two new Republicans and one new Democratic jurist.

As soon as the secretary of state completes tabulation of the official court and certifies their election, Roy H. Williams, Sandusky Republican, W. L. Garver, Millersburg Democrat, and William L. Hart, Alliance Republican, will be sworn in by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant. All three retiring judges are Democrats appointed by Gov. George White to fill vacancies.

Williams will succeed Judge Howard L. Bevis, Cincinnati, appointed by White men when Judge R. R. Kinkade resigned in May, 1933. He will sit on the bench until Dec. 31, 1936.

Garver and Hart will serve only until Dec. 31, this year, when they will give way to the judges elected for full six-year terms, Charles B. Zimmerman, Springfield Democrat, and Arthur H. Day, Cleveland Republican. Republicans will remain in the majority.

Zimmerman is a member of the court now by appointment. He succeeded the late Judge Robert H. Day, Massillon Republican, rather than run the risk of being elected for the six-years' term and defeat for the six-weeks' term and defeat. Zimmerman did not seek the short term. Consequently, he will be off the bench but six weeks before starting his full term.

Garver and Hart, the short-term judges, will replace Zimmerman and Judge Robert N. Wilkin, Dover Democrat, appointed to succeed Judge Florence Allen when she resigned to take a federal judgeship. Wilkin was defeated in the Democratic primary by N. Craig McBride, Hillsboro Democrat, Day, a Republican, defeated McBride, in the general election.

Membership of the supreme court after the new short-term judges take office will be as follows: Chief Justice, Carl V. Weygant, Cleveland Democrat. Associate judges: Edward S. Matthias, Van Wert Republican; Thomas A. Jones, Jackson Republican; Roy H. Williams, Sandusky Republican; William L. Hart, Alliance Republican; Will P. Stephenson, West Union Democrat, and W. L. Garver, Millersburg Democrat.

Trinity Missionary Society Plans Thank-Offering Meet

Interesting Program Arranged; Inner-Missionary Society Worker To Be Speaker

The Missionary societies of the Holy Trinity Lutheran church will hold their annual Thank-Offering service Sunday evening at the church on East State st.

Miss Sadie Schaefer, president of the Women's Missionary society, will be in charge of the devotionals. The following program will be presented: Processional hymn; pageant, "Spirit of Thanksgiving";

Community Club At Zimmerman Home

Thirty three members and 13 guests were present at the meeting last evening of the West Side Community club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Zimmerman, Damascus rd.

Fourteen new members were admitted into the club.

Mrs. Price Cope was in charge of the entertainment consisting of a piano duet by the Misses Jane and Rachel Cope; talk on "Thanksgiving", M. J. Buell; reading, "Lasca", Mrs. Price Cope and a reading of the club's editorial, Price Cope.

Surprise Party At Bickel Home

Miss Claribel Bickel was pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening at her home on East School st., at a charmingly arranged party in honor of her birthday anniversary.

Miss Evelyn Cherry, who had arranged the party, was the hostess. Cards were enjoyed during the evening hours. Refreshments were served at the tables.

The feature of the evening was an immense white and pink birthday cake with pink candles.

Miss Bickel was honored with a lovely handkerchief shower.

W. B. A. Entertained At Probert Home

Mrs. William Probert was hostess to members of the Women's Benevolent association last evening at her home on Columbia st. Three guests were present.

Four tables of "500" were in play with the high honors award going to Mrs. J. C. Birkheimer.

In two weeks the members will have election of officers at their meeting at the K. of P. hall.

Mrs. Harold Shepherd Is Honored

Mrs. Harold Shepherd, a recent bride, was honored with a shower of gifts at the meeting of the Just Right club last evening at the home of Mrs. Hannah Moore, Washington st.

Mrs. Moore served refreshments. At noon today the members had a covered dinner at the home of Mrs. Harvey Green, East Third st., in honor of her birthday.

Tea-Musical To Be Held By Club

The Minority club will hold its second annual tea musical at Two-Crest Inn, on the Salem-Camfield rd., at 8 p. m. Monday, Nov. 26.

The evening's diversions will consist of cards, dancing, entertainment and refreshments.

Members and guests will be in attendance.

Marriage Licenses

The guest speaker will be Miss Cooke, an Inner Mission society worker from Pittsburgh. Her topic will be "Inner Missions." There will be special music and the closing devotionals will be in charge of Mrs. Merle Caldwell, president of the Jesse Thomas circle.

Wednesday Night Club Meets

Members of the Wednesday Night club enjoyed a delightful dinner party at Two-Crest Inn last evening.

Following the dinner they returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. White on West Tenth st., where bridge proved to be an enjoyable diversion.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Lee Weaver of Leetonia and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pearce of Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fultz will entertain their club associates Dec. 5 at their home on North Union ave.

Miss Mary Giffin Club Hostess

Members of the Revelers Club enjoyed a very pleasant meeting last night at the home of Miss Mary Giffin on Franklin ave.

Games and dancing were popular diversions during the evening and prizes were won by Miss Alice Hertz and Miss Kathryn Zimmer.

Miss Giffin served refreshments, buffet style.

The club members will meet next with Miss Alice Hertz at her home on South Lincoln ave, but no definite date has been set.

Teacher Is Arrested Following Shooting

PORTSMOUTH, Nov. 23.—Charges of shooting with intent to wound and kill, were filed against Mabel Shaw, a school teacher, following a double shooting as a climax to the "belling" of a bride, Miss Hazel Shaw Hodge, a sister of the accused woman.

Charles Graham, 35, was shot through his left leg, and Russell Shaw, 18, through the left foot, with a pistol, allegedly in the hand of Miss Shaw, who, she said, became incensed at serenaders "belling" of her sister. They damaged her property, she contended as she posted $200 bond for her appearance Saturday.

Cincinnati Dies

CINCINNATI, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Julia C. Rupp, 77, is dead here. She leaves besides her husband, who was the last president of Cincinnati's board of aldermen, three sons and three daughters, among them, Col. Jacob W. S. Wuest, chief military attaché to the American embassy in Berlin; Richard, commander of the U. S. S. Wyoming; and Mrs. Lenora B. Crafton, wife of Col. Denham B. Crafton of Port George C. Meade at Laurel, Md.

Charles Wuest, city engineer of Portsmouth, is another son.

Heads Meat Firm

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Robert H. Cabell of London, England, today was unanimously elected general manager of Armour & Co. packing firm, succeeding the late T. G. Lee.

Hitler's Friend

Surprising thing about close friendship of Leni Riefenstahl (above) and Reich leader Adolf Hitler is that she makes no effort to conceal fact she is Jewish. Nazi chieftain made her virtual dictator of German films and allied arts. This is her newest photo.

Right: A tunic blouse of rich red wool cut on sleek lines and with a shirtmaker sleeve. The detachable bandana has a fringed edge and is detachable.

TUNICS WILL REVIVE the JADED WARDROBE

Of silk, wool and velvet they will transform those dresses which have lost their appeal.

By MARIE MAROT

THOSE OF your dresses that are past their first youth need not languish in the cupboard. If the line is slim and the skirt good, treat these dresses to a couple of tunics and see what a large wardrobe you have acquired. This year, the shops have concentrated on tunics with excellent results. There are lovely velvet tunics, which, when worn over a slim dinner frock, will make an absolutely new and very smart costume. There are tunics of pure silk that will help to make a nice afternoon frock. Here are three winners in the tunic class that are well worth their weight in gold as assistants to a drooping wardrobe. The tunic with the frog fastenings and open sleeves is of chartreuse velvet. The center figure wears a tunic blouse of rich red wool. The detachable bandana has a fringed edge. The cut velvet tunic is glorified by a metal belt and a draped neckline. The wide shouldered sleeve has a slim cuff.

BEAUTIFY THE TABLE

FROM ALL accounts it would seem that we are going to do more entertaining this year. The shops report that there has been really a run on new china dinner sets and that the demand for new table-napery has not yet abated. So now is the time to turn our attention to the table, doing our best to make it beautiful, secure in the knowledge that it is taste and not money that creates real beauty.

A low bowl filled with pink roses and candles in the same shade of delicate pink is not an expensive centerpiece but it will be just as beautiful as a piece of gold plate. The centerpiece is the focal point of the table, with the centerpiece the hostess sets the scene and it must be appropriate as well as beautiful. Mirror glass will be extremely useful, for all sorts of shimmering reflections from the glass or china or silver above will be caught by the soft candle light or the electric lights.

New Centerpieces

A beautiful centerpiece for a before sailing dinner was made out of some blue mirror glass squares in which were reflected little aluminum toy boats, with heavy silk cord around the whole plate. The most expensive decoration could not have been more suitable or better looking. Aluminum is splendid for centerpieces, especially the elaborate centerpiece that breaks up into about nine single holders of all shapes and sizes.

An ingenious hostess will use these holders in various ways and groups to make a real handsome setting, varying it according to the number of places set and to the type of table required. If you have a handsome old china bowl or dish or a beautiful silver or Sheffield piece, by all means use it. Beautiful things are always in fashion.

For luncheons, a low, squat pottery bowl, filled with colorful fruits is always good, especially when peasant-type linen and china is used with it. Purple and green grapes, ripe figs, oranges make a colorful picture, the more so when placed in a dull brown pottery container. Purple grapes and purple figs heaped on a green or blue container makes another rich note.

Flower Holders

Pottery for daytime, aluminum and lead for night are two most inexpensive choices. The new lead flower holders that can be shaped and twisted as one wishes, will be ever so useful, and the aluminum and mirror glass combination is hard to beat. All of these things are extremely inexpensive, and so you will see that it isn't necessary to have silver or silver gilt dishes in order to make a beautiful table.

Even if you don't intend giving any big parties, study the arrangements of tables that are shown in nearly all the stores that are specializing in these new table aluminum pieces. You will be pleased at what you see and when you do want to do a table you will be rich with ideas.

DEATHS

JOHN W. WETMORE

Word has been received here of the death of John W. Wetmore, 71, of Champaign, Ill., which occurred Sunday at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where he went a year ago with his sister, Miss Mary M. Wetmore. They expected to remain there during the winter.

Mr. Wetmore had not been in good health for some time but his condition was not considered to be serious. His death was sudden.

John Wallace Wetmore was born in Canfield Jan. 27, 1863, son of John and Minerva Wallace Wetmore. He attended Ohio Wesleyan university and was graduated from Washburn college in 1889. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and the Elks lodge.

Many years ago he moved to Champaign where he lived with his three sisters. He was a partner in the Twin City Ice Co. there for several years, although he had not been actively engaged in business because of deafness.

He is survived by one sister, Miss Mary Minerva Wetmore, and a nephew, Phillip Seagrave of Cleveland.

The body was taken to Champaign for burial. Miss Wetmore is quite ill in Florida and was unable to return for the services.

MRS. ELIZABETH CAMERON

Mrs. Elizabeth D. Cameron died at 10 p. m. Thursday at her home on North Ellsworth ave., following a lingering illness. She was the daughter of the late William and Sara Ann Bundy of Colerain, Ohio.

She was born and lived most of her early life in Belmont county. She was united in marriage to Albert Cameron Nov. 23, 1882.

Mrs. Cameron is survived by two daughters, Essie and Clara, and one son, Holland, of Salem; and one sister, Maryline Bundy of Colerain. Friends may call at the home this evening from 7 to 9 p. m.

Funeral service will be held at McConnell; pianist, Mary Beardsley; chorister, W. H. Matthews; legislative agent, D. R. McConnell; juvenile matron, Edith Weikart.

Mahoning county Pomona grange members will be guests of Dublin grange in Canfield tomorrow.

Greenford grange will have its next meeting Dec. 4.

Faces Murder Charge

FRONTON, Nov. 23.—W. D. Shaffer, 45, of near South Webster today was under arrest and facing the filing of a murder charge, according to Sheriff E. W. Bennett, after the fatal shooting of William Cantrell, 64.

Bennett said two sons of Cantrell told him and coroner Harry Jones that Shaffer had quarreled with one of the sons and that Cantrell accompanied them back to a farm owned by Shaffer. There the arguments was renewed.

Here's How State Tax Will Strike The Family Purse

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 23.—The amount of sales tax that each family would pay, by the bill passed by the House today, is entirely dependent upon the amount of money it has to spend and does not depend on things taxable.

If a family has $1,200 income and spends $800 for food, clothing and other taxable articles, the annual tax would approximate $24, of 3 per cent.

If $2,000 is spent for food, clothing and other taxable articles, the tax would amount to approximately $60 a year.

On purchases of 9 cents or less, there is to be no sales tax levy under the terms of the bill as passed by the House.

The first tax charge is on a purchase of 10 cents, when the tax collected is to be 1 cent. This, of course, makes the tax on dime purchases 10 per cent.

The tax remains 1 cent on all purchases up to and including 29 cents. At 30 cents the tax jumps to 2 cents. All purchases costing between 30 and 69 cents will be taxed at 2 cents. From 70 cents and including $1 the tax is 3 cents.

For purchases costing in excess of $1, the same ratio as given for the first dollar obtains, according to those who have tried to interpret the language of the bill.

HALF-BILLION PAID FARMERS

Payments Before End of Year Expected To Hit $700,000,000

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The AAA passed the half-billion dollar mark today in disbursing its flow of cash to farmers.

On July 28, 1933, William E. Morris of Neches county, Texas, received check No. 1 signed by President Roosevelt. It was a $517 payment to Morris for plowing up part of his standing cotton. Since that time 7,224,576 checks have been mailed out for a grand total of $506,046,428.

South Gets Big Check

Of this sum, southern farmers received 3,690,392 checks for $339,572,187, the largest payment to any commodity group. It was divided into $112,735,879 for the cotton plow-up campaign of 1933, $75,702,438 for the acreage reduction program of 1934, $12,128,981 to holders of options on government-held cotton, and $39,004,899 to holders of cotton option pool certificates.

Tobacco growers received $2,042,633 during 1933 and $15,568,147 under the 1934 acreage reduction contracts.

Corn-hog farmers received nothing during 1933 but this far in 1934 have pocketed $130,661,570. An additional $1,000 is being paid out to them each minute of the day and night.

Wheat farmers have received 1,722,926 checks totaling $118,201,887. More than $81,165,000 was distributed last year and the balance thus far in 1934.

Payments to be made before the end of the year are expected to run the grand total close to $700,000,000.

Asks Drastic Remedies

As for the farm problems in general, a plea by Oscar Johnston, AAA official, that the midwest and South unite to obtain "drastic, fundamental" remedies for agriculture's ills drew much comment.

Among points stressed was that the government must stop "playing fairy godmother for every sort of manufacturing enterprise, and give proper thought to farmers in making tariffs and trade treaties."

"Sound and fair," and "essential" were the comments of J. C. Hollon, Mississippi commissioner of agriculture.

Harry F. Kapp, manager of the Louisiana Farm Bureau federation, said he didn't "see any necessity for it" because both sections were "pretty well blocked up now."

"It sounds pretty good," said H. G. Keeney of the Nebraska farmers union.

"A good patch on an old suit, but what we want is a new suit," said E. E. Kennedy, secretary of the National Farmers union.

R. A. Trovatten, Minnesota commissioner of agriculture, said "we must demand drastic legislation for agriculture."

who baptized the doomed man.

As the men were paying the penalty for their crime, outside in the prison waiting room sat Freeman's relatives.

Sheriff Watches Pair Die

In the group which saw the pair die were Sheriff W. P. Turner of Jackson county, who captured them by waiting in a cabin until Thacker and Freeman returned to retrieve a sweater and pair of trousers they had left there, and Deputy Hulan Warren of Jackson county.

Double funeral services will be conducted for them Sunday at Mount Olive, Vinton county.

They were the first persons ever sentenced to the electric chair in Jackson county, and the first to receive the death penalty there in about 50 years. In Freeman's first trial the jury disagreed, and he was not convicted until a month after Thacker was sentenced to die.

Another man will die tonight in the chair. He is Isaac Mosley, 26-year-old Cincinnati Negro, convicted of slaying Abraham Wartik, a furniture dealer. And there are six others in death row.

Hurt In Leap

CINCINNATI, Nov. 23.—Charles Marksberry, 28, jumped from a bridge across the Ohio river here. He was rescued by two Newport men who threw him a line. Suffering from exposure, bruises and internal hurts, he is in a serious condition, physicians reported.

Dead At Dayton

DAYTON, Nov. 23.—John W. Baker, 89, native of Hancock county and for more than a half century a power in Indiana Republican politics, is dead at the home of Mrs. George A. Pontius, a daughter. He had been bedfast since Oct. 1.

Ill With Tularemia

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 23.—Mrs. William Wilum, 30, mother of three children, residing northwest of here, is Clark county's first victim of tularemia, or rabbit fever, this year. She became infected while cleaning rabbits. Her condition is serious, physicians say.

Named Low Bidder

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The James Devault Co., of Canton, O., offered the low bid for construction of a postoffice at Gillespie, Ill., at a figure of $35,134.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—During the annual Red Cross roll call, a counterfeit $10 city warrant was found among the contributions.

Today a bona fide $10 warrant was sent to Red Cross headquarters, with this note:

"I couldn't sleep, please forgive me."

HOUSING PLAN WILL BE HEARD

Columbiana Civic Clubs To Hear District Fed- eral Administrator

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 23. — Dr. Elwood T. Bailey, the lecturer, was a guest of the Columbiana Rotary club at their meeting recently and gave a brief but most effective talk on "Comrades Without Difference," which he said was a digest of a long address he had given recently to a large group of men in Chicago. In looking forward, he said the thing most needed was faith, and he divided this into five kinds: faith in God, in our country, our city, in other men and faith in self. Dr. Bailey is an honorary member of seven service clubs. Prof. H. A. Tuttle, Youngstown, was a club visitor.

A Red Cross membership drive was conducted at the meeting in an attempt to have the Rotarians join 100 per cent.

Next week's meeting will be a joint one with the Kiwanis club. The meeting will be held at the American Legion hall and the speaker will be Mr. T. F. Humphreys, federal housing administrator of the Cleveland district.

Dr. Bailey Is Speaker
A large audience enjoyed the third number on the Rotary-sponsored fall entertainment course Tuesday evening in the High school auditorium, Dr. Elwood T. Bailey giving the address on "Cash for the New Deal." Next Tuesday night the final number of the course will be presented. It will be a play called "Rooms for Tourists," given by a group of experienced actors.

Miss Mary Salvatore, kindergarten supervisor at the Pearl street Community house, Youngstown, will be the speaker at 11 Sunday morning at the Columbiana Methodist church, when the Home Missionary society holds the annual Thanksgiving service. There will be special music by the choir. Those having donations for the home missions of fruit, vegetables and materials to sew will take them to the church at that time.

Junior Play Friday
Reserved seats are on sale at Clapp's drug store for the Junior class play, "Uncle's Rocky Road," which will be presented Friday evening in the high school auditorium under the direction of the Misses Marion Thomas and Elizabeth Starr of the school faculty. The cast of characters follows: Lavinia, Verna Graham; Bob Deterline, Martin Logan; Clara, Hollenhead; Gerald, Leisher; Melvin, Forbes; Howard Chamberlain, Ruth Newell; Doris Hum, Jane Slagle; Dorothy Tidd and Martha Young.

Members of the Needlecraft club were entertained Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. E. T. Coyle at her home, 14 Park ave., with 14 present. Bridge and fancywork were enjoyed, after which a lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be in two weeks at the home of Mrs. J. A. Crawford.

Re and Mrs. G. S. Straubach have returned home from Fredericktown, Knox county, where Rev. Straubach officiated at the funeral of a relative, Theodore Bechtel.

DON'T LET COMMON CONSTIPATION DULL THE JOY OF LIVING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief

Constipation takes the sunshine out of your days. It may bring headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, sallow skins, pimples.

Fortunately, you can avoid this condition by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to help overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than dosing yourself with patent medicines. Two tablespoonsful of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If seriously ill, see your doctor—ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Reheating a bent frame weakens it — we straighten frames without heat in a special patented frame press. Body, fenders or motor is not disturbed. Smart service — close prices.

Young Tory Is Rising Diplomat

Parliament Captain Anthony Eden

In the midst of chancelleries crowded with silver-haired veterans of European diplomacy walks a comparatively young diplomat of whom great things are expected in England. He is Captain Anthony Eden, 36-year-old aristocrat, who is parliamentary secretary to the British foreign office. During the absence of his chief, the young captain represents the foreign office in parliament, and frequently is deputized to push disarmament and peace measures at meetings of the League of Nations in Geneva. Political observers believe him a possible Tory candidate for the premiership some day.

Elroy of Youngstown.

BUSINESS GOOD AT LEETONIA CO.

Tool Concern Starts Construction of New Building

LEETONIA, Nov. 22.—The Leetonia Tool company let a contract this week for a new steel building to be located on the northwest corner of its property on Front st.
The foundation work is now under construction and the building will be pushed rapidly to completion.
Additional machinery has been contracted for. The new section will contain a modern shipping room and warehouse. Shipments will be made direct into cars spotted at the door. A new and heavier switch will make direct connections with the Pennsylvania and Erie railroads. The old shipping and warehouse will be converted into a power plant where electricity will be generated to supply their own power, light and heat.

Early this year an addition was made to its heavy machinery department and additional equipment added there to take care of this concern's steadily increasing business. The tool works have run steadily throughout the depression and C. E. Holt, Sr., president, stated the improvement and expansion were absolutely necessary in order to supply the trade now and to take care of future business.

News From Tourists

Mrs. J. M. Webb, of Cleveland, former Leetonia residents, who is touring the world, has reached Bombay, India. He expects to be in Jerusalem, Palestine, on Christmas. Mr. Webb reports that Japan is the most interesting country he has visited and Hawaii fourth.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mrs. Lois W. Gibbons, of 120 Walnut st., to Arthur
S. Wilmurt, of New York City. Mr.
Wilmurt is engaged in the advertising business in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Kilmurt will divide their time between Leetonia and Florida.

Relatives have been advised of the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crook and daughter Dorothy and
Mr. and Mrs. James Crook at Alapatta Gardens, 20 miles south of Miami, Fla.

Recent Births

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riddle of R. D. 2, Columbiana are the parents of a son born last evening at the City hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sunderman are the parents of a daughter, born Nov. 17, at their home, 103 Rose ave. They have named the infant Virginia Ruth.

Shoe Cobbler's Wife Phones President In Fight With Officer

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Mario Perazza of Suburban Lake Bluff is a woman of action who believes in carrying her troubles to high places. After standing guard over machinery in her husband's shoe shop to prevent Constable Rowland Nelson from seizing it on a writ of replevin, she rushed to a drug store last night, took down the telephone receiver and said:

"Get me President Roosevelt. He's got to do something about the constable and the machinery." Mrs. Perazza didn't get the president, who is at Warm Springs, Ga., but a pleasant-voiced secretary instructed her to write a letter, adding he would see that it received attention.

"I guess that'll show 'em they can't come around here taking machinery," Mrs. Perazza said triumphantly.

But when she returned to the shop she found the wily constable had slipped in and out with seven pieces of machinery on which a shoe machinery company claims royalties are due and unpaid.

Mrs. Perazza had taken up her stand guarding the machinery after her husband had been arrested on complaint of the constable who said Perazza punched him on the nose.

Perazza later was released on bond.

Students receiving the honor include: Glenn L. Clark, Ada; Hugh A. Dells, Canfield and Virginia R. Shipley, Marion.

Canfield Girl Wins University Honor

Warren Judge Needs $5 For Commission

COLUMBUS, Nov. 23.—For lack of a $5 bill, the commission of Dewey McKiver as Trumbull county common pleas court is being held in the secretary of state's office.

McKiver was appointed several days ago by Gov. George White to fill a vacancy on the common pleas bench. His commission failed to arrive at Warren and today inquiries were made.

"It will cost him $5 to get the commission," said Secretary of State George S. Myers. "We'll send it to him as soon as we get the money."

Killed In Accident

LANCASTER, Nov. 23.—Martha Ann Long 4, met instant death when the motor car driven by her mother, Mrs. Will Long of Columbus, skidded from the highway and into a ditch, between Carroll and Jefferson north of here on state route 31.

Hurling through a window, the child suffered a fractured skull. Mrs. Long was only slightly bruised.

"We Are Coming Back" Says President Roosevelt

Speaking from Tupelo, Mississippi, Sunday, the President of the United States told the country to be of good cheer because, without a doubt, we are nearing the "come-back." That, friends, is NEWS! And that, friends, is only a part of the story. The American Federation of Labor now says that the "powerful but intangible force" of business sentiment has apparently taken a turn for the better within the last month. And even newspaper publishers who have been adamant in their opposition to Washington, say, "now things look brighter," "business is more confident now." In yesterday's paper we read, "Output of Steel Increases," and the Magazine STEEL says there's "a stronger sentiment in the markets." And here, too, in our own modest way, we may say, "we're doing MORE business this November than last and are expecting the largest Christmas in many, many years. More people are using our Extended Charge Plan, with its EASY-MET PAYMENTS—which means more people are BUYING. We are proud that through our modern method of Selling America's finest jewelry for men, women and children on these Easy-to-Meet Terms that people are able to buy the things they want, and we're glad that through all these years we have not needed to add one cent over our regular cash price, to the cost of goods to the customer. Not only, Mr. President, are we "coming back", but, with your splendid assistance, we have "come back."

WOOSTER COACH

UPHOLDS GAME

IN TALK HERE

C. Boles Defends Football and Encourages
Quaker Gridders

Upholding football as one would naturally expect a grid mentor to advocate the game, Coach L. C. Boles of Wooster college yesterday sided upon the residents of Salem to put forth generous efforts to show the Quakers that they're better than them 100 per cent. Boles spoke before members of the Quaker football team who, with Salem High faculty members, were guests of the Quaker club Thursday noon at a banquet in the Memorial building.

Coach Boles, a "builder-upper" in this game of football, pointed out that at certain times when teams go through a season marked by losses, certain lessons, and valuable ones, are learned from defeat.

Fight On, He Urges

He called upon team members and urged that they do not hesitate just because games are lost once in a while, but to carry on the fight and show their coach that they've got the stuff that goes to make up a good player, and that they're interested in the game. "If you've shown your coach you've tried hard, then it's a success, he defended.

Boles, in his talk, rapped those persons who consider football games worthy only from the entertainment standpoint and do not consider the training value received. "In football," he said, "comes the chance to build character, the informal chance to put across in this play laboratory the results of fine teachings of school and church."

The ability of a coach to inform a group of men to keep fighting until the gun barks the end of the duel, is one of the great educational lessons gained in football," he said. Boles pointed out that the spirit of self sacrifice moulded into character in the games is carried over into the rest of a player's life.

The Wooster mentor defined a blocker as the man who cuts down the enemy defense and paves the way whereby the pigskin totter may get his name in the paper. Blocking is the most difficult, fundamental of the game because it is a self sacrificing proposition, he pointed out.

Stresses Character Value

Boles, who this week is rounding out his 19th season as football coach for the Scots, in stressing the character value of the game and other sports as well, said that when that intercollegiate athletics were cut off one year, more untoward incidents happened at college than in any other corresponding period.

Boles said he thought it a fine measure on the part of the Kiwanis club to show the interest it fosters in the Quakers. In closing he left a poem for the gridmen to ponder and remember—

Fight on, fight on my merry men,
I'm wounded a little but not slain;
I'll lie me down to bleed awhile,
But to rise again.

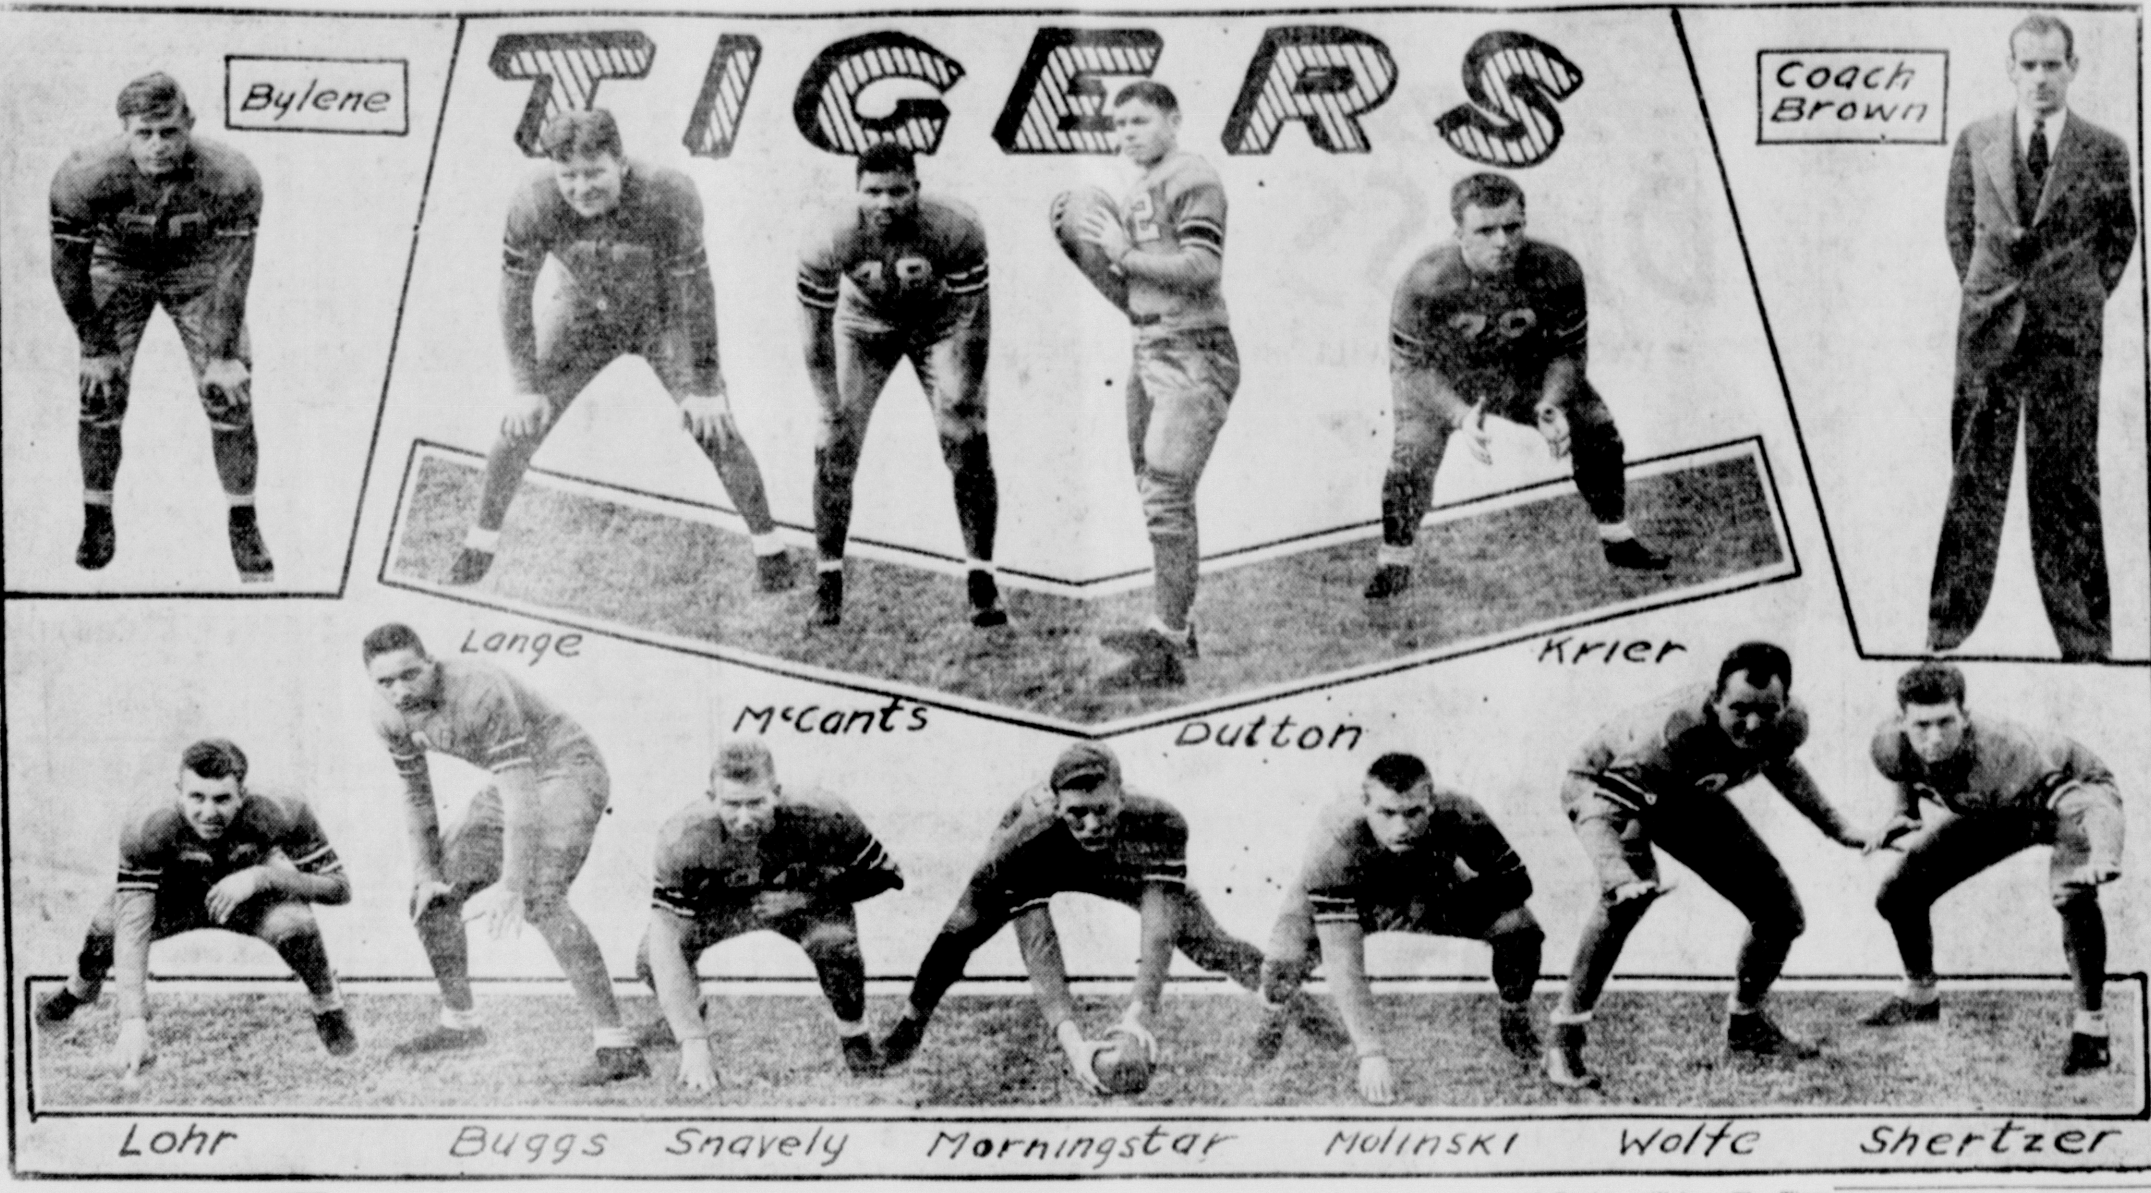

The speaker was introduced by Superintendent of Schools E. S. Kerr. High School Principal William J. Springer previously introduced Coach Lew Smith, Quaker gridman, who in turn introduced members of the Quaker eleven.

Boles Has Put
Wooster On Map

Coach Boles has put the college of Wooster on the football map of the middle west. Twenty years ago the football teams were generally regarded as the worst of the competition. Today the college consistently produces, under Boles' direction, football teams that are no pushovers for any team in this section. Wooster will entertain Heidelberg Saturday in the last game of the season, and the Scots are expected to clinch the Ohio conference crown by turning back the attack of the Student Princes.

The Wooster club this year has won seven conference engagements, and has only one blot on its record—a 20-0 defeat at the hands of W. & J. Boles' teams have won 114 out of 122 games since he came to Wooster.

Boles believes the way to learn

Both Canton and Massillon today were prepared for the biggest sports events in their history—the all-important battle Saturday afternoon between the Bengals of Washington High and the Bulldogs of Canton McKinley for the high school football championship of the state.

That Coach Paul Brown considers is Tigers ready was indicated when he eased off in practice Thursday and announced that only a light workout would be held today. More attention will be given to verbal instruction than to scrimmage from now until the rival teams take the field at 2:30 Saturday. In drills so far this week the Tigers have shown machine-like precision in execution of their plays and they appear to be in perfect condition.

So far as the cities are concerned, only the tedious task of awaiting the zero hour remains.

The starting lineup for Massillon and Canton will be: (The Tiger starting lineup together with Coach Paul Brown is pictured above)

SERIES SPLIT

Differences Over Playoffs Causes trouble between
A. A. and I. L.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 23.—The American Association and International League today reached the parting of the ways and scrapped the little world series, held annually between champions of the two Class AA leagues.

The American association, unable to reach an agreement with the International League on post-season playoffs, discussed a little world series with the Pacific Coast league, but it was decided such a fall series would not be financially worth while because of geographical reasons.

Since 1916, the little world series has been played except for the war year of 1918. The difference between the two circuits, which caused the abandonment of the little baseball show were these:

A. A. Drops Playoffs

The American association decided to scrap its own post-season series between leaders of its western and eastern divisions and award its pennant to the team with the highest percentage over a full 154-game schedule. The A. A. asked the Internationals to do likewise, or at least simplify its pennant race and have the real champion over the regular schedule meet the A. A. champs. But the post-season playoffs, in which the first team played the third and the second place club played the fourth team in the standings, were too attractive to the Internationals, who voted to retain the same play-offs with guaranteed purses to the participants.

At their meeting today, the I. L. voted to play a 154-game schedule and award the pennant to the leader, which will receive $2,500 plus 5 per cent of the post-season series receipts. The winner of the playoffs, which may be the same team, will receive $5,000; the second team will receive $2,500.

football is to play football. For that reason he uses more scrum-mages than do most coaches. He runs plays, runs 'em, and runs 'em until he knows the boys can execute them forward and backwards. That is one of the reasons the team is so strong on offense. It has scored 193 points in seven games against 35 for the opponents.

After Coach Boles graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1905 (he didn't play himself because of parental objection) he went to London, O. where his first football team won six games and lost one.

Boles went from London to Fostoria, where his teams won 47 games and lost only four, with two ties, in six years. In 1912 his undefeated team was generally rated as national scholastic champion.

The Fostoria team piled up 596 points and went through the season without its goal line being crossed. In the season's finale, for the scholastic flag, the team trounced Buffalo Central 74-0.

After two years of coaching at East High in Cleveland, where his teams won the senate flag one year and the quadrangular championship another, Boles came to Wooster.

More than 800 scholastic visitors are expected to attend the game, guests of Wooster at the fifth annual High School Visitors' day.

Yale Holds Slight Edge Over

Harvard In Traditional Duel

Wearry Fotball Forecasters Thunder Down Home Stretch, Picking Army and Minnesota

BY HERBERT W. BARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Heads bloody but unbowed, football prognosticators thundered down the home stretch today along with the waning football campaign. From this corner, prospects for outstanding games appear to be about as follows:

Yale-Harvard—The Iron Men of Harvard On form and not forgetting Yale's amazing upset of Princeton last week, there's no doubt the Elis are stronger. The main difficulty, however, is that past performances rarely mean anything in Yale-Harvard football and there's no use trying to dope the winner by logic or a slide-rule. However, the Jerry Roscoe-Lawrence Kelley passing combination looks like a more dangerous scoring threat than anything Harvard has shown and for that reason, this ballgame goes to Yale.

Army-Notre Dame—Another one of those traditional games in which the tossing of a coin is recommended as the best method of fore-telling the winner. In sheer power, Notre Dame holds a wide edge, but the Ramblers have failed to make their strength show in the point column. The hunch here is that Jack Buckler and Joe Stan-cock, plus the more polished Army attack, give the Cadets the edge.

Minnesota-Wisconsin—Wisconsin's Badgers removed one Big Ten contender last week, Illinois, but it will be a miracle if Doc Spears' lads can hold off Pug Lund, Stan Kostka and other Gopher luminaries for four periods. Minnesota handily.

Stanford-California—Despite California's comeback in recent weeks, Stanford, heading straight for another Rose Bowl engagement, seems to have a pronounced edge, defensively and offensively. The Cardinals also boast one of the outstanding backs of the season in young Bobby Grayson. We'll take Stanford.

Purdue-Indiana—Indiana showed a dangerous attack for the first time this season against Maryland last Saturday but the Hoosiers do not appear to rate quite up to Purdue's all-around class, especially with the Boilermakers eager to snatch part of the Big Ten crown.

Rice-Texas Christian—This is the big obstacle for Rice in its bid for the southwest title and Jimmy Kitts' Owls should hurdle it, narrowly.

Nebraska-Missouri—If the score's no worse than 30 to 0 against them, it will be a moral victory for Missouri's hapless Tigers.

Princeton-Dartmouth—The invading Indians from Hanover probably will pay for the beating Yale handed the Tigers last week.

Rutgers-Colgate—Colgate rates a pronounced edge.

Temple-Villanova—Pop Warner's undefeated Temple Owls should break the Villanova jinx this time.

Washington-Washington State—Beaten twice outside the conference but undefeated within it, Washington State's Cougars have the greater incentive, a possible share in the Pacific title, Washington State, after a real battle.

U. C. L. A.-Oregon State—Those teams from the far north generally lose their effectiveness when they travel south, inspiring this week-voiced vote for U. C. L. A.

Princeton Star's

Record Is Broken

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 23.—One of the records which fell last week when Yale downed Princeton affected Garry Levan, famed Princeton back, when Yale tallied its touchdown, it marked the first time in Levan's four years of football at Princeton that a rival team scored while he was in the Tiger lineup.

READ THE WANT COLUMN

Columbia - Syracuse — Lou Little's Lions will attempt to stop a powerful team coached in the Little system. Columbia's attack is the more deceptive but the Lions may be worn down by Syracuse power. For better or worse, Syracuse.

Chicago - Illinois — Successful games with Purdue, Ohio State and Minnesota have had their effect on Chicago. We'll take Illinois.

Michigan-Northwestern — Out of a hat, Northwestern.

Auburn-Georgia — Georgia seems to have too much power.

Florida-Georgia Tech — Florida, narrowly.

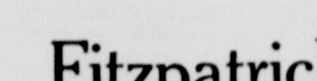

Kansas-Michigan State — A close one. The guess here is that the Spartans finally will pierce Kansas' stubborn defense.

Oklahoma-Oklahoma A. and M.—On their records, Oklahoma seems a shade the better.

Ohio State-Iowa — A winning finale for the powerful Ohioans.

UPSETS LOOM

IN OHIO FRAYS

Ohio State, However, Favored Over Iowa; Mt.
Union Not Favored

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 23.—Upsets loom on the gridirons of Ohio tomorrow afternoon, and Buckeye fans are hoping that the Scarlet and Gray is not listed among the victims. The Ohio State team meets Iowa here in the final game of the season, and despite the far from flashy record of the invaders, they are expected to make the game more than a workout for the powerful Ohioans.

Ohio State, because of its reserve strength, is favored to win, but the experts are not looking for a runaway score.

Mount, Toledo May Lose

Mt. Union, which has won four games while losing two, and Toledo, which is undefeated and unscored on in Ohio Conference play, are doomed for defeat this weekend if the experts are right.

Mt. Union tangles with Akron, which has won two and lost four, but comparison of records indicates the Mounts are due to fall. Toledo runs into Case, which has won two, tied two and lost the same number, but Case gets the call because of its fine showing against strong opposition.

Running True To Form

Wooster is expected to run true to form in upsetting the Student Princes of Heidelberg, and thus clinch the Ohio Conference crown with eight straight victories, while Western Reserve is tipped to take Oberlin just about as it pleases.

Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio university clash at Delaware, and the experts are dubious about the outcome, although they expect John Turley's prowess to give the Bishops a slight edge. The winner has a chance to tie for the Buckeye Conference crown, if Miami upsets the league-leading Cincinnati team Thanksgiving day.

Muskingum goes to Waynesburg, Pa., for the other game on the day's schedule. Five Thanksgiving day games will wind up the football season in Ohio, the day's feature being the Miami-Cincinnati clash.

LASKY TO MEET

KING LEVINSKY

Champion Max Baer Will Be at Ringside To Aid Brother

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Art Lasky, one of the aspirants to Max Baer's heavyweight crown, pursues his campaign tonight in a 10-round bout with the problem child of the heavyweight division, King Levinsky.

Lasky already has whipped the noisy ex-fish-peddler, but Levinsky usually pops up with one of his best efforts when least expected. The champion himself will be at the ringside with an elegant proposal.

Baer Makes Proposal

"Why not," he said in Kansas City last night on his way here, "have me meet Art Lasky and Steve Hamas in one night?"

"That would pack them in. Each fight would be for 10 rounds and after I knocked out the first one, I'd be given a five-minute rest before I took on the other."

"Say I met Lasky first and knocked him out in the first round. Then I'd take on Hamas after a five-minute rest. But if Lasky should beat me, oh well—"

At any rate, Max will be there watching Lasky. He will also act as second to his 243-pound baby brother, Buddy Baer, who will meet Frank Keltner of Chicago, in a special four-round bout.

LINDSTROM AND FRENCH LANDED BY BUSY CLUBS

Pirates Refuse Hubbell, Accept Guy Bush, Herman and Weaver

By PAUL MICKELSON.
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 23.—Im- pressed by the mention of seven figures in the big deal by which the St. Louis Cardinals may be (or have been) sold to Lew Wentz, millionaire Oklahoma oil man, the Great Dizzy Dean has named two figures less—$25,000—and his take it or leave it salary demand for next season's work with the world champions.

Dizzy came to the big major-league action sales here in connection with some independent business, but immediately was cornered by the Cardinal bosses, who wanted him to sign his 1935 contract.

Dizzy Names His Price
"I'll take $25,000, no more, no less," spoke the world series pitching hero. General Manager Branch Rickey of the Cardinals argued, cajoled and talked but to no avail.

"They offered of $15,000 last time. I saw them in St. Louis and wanted Paul (Paul Dean) to sign for $7,000. Well, we just wouldn't sign. I've been reading the papers lately and maybe the talk about millions of dollars has got me dizzy, but I won't take over or under twenty-five grand."

Those who really know that Dizzy is a pretty shrewd fellow on and off the diamond believe he will sign his contract for less, but that he feels it would be a little wiser to wait until the Wentz deal for the Cardinals is completed or thrown over. If Wentz gets the club, Dizzy's friends believe he can get a better contract than he can from Owner Sam Breadon. Anyone's guess was as good as the other's on the Wentz deal. Some insisted it had been completed; others said Wentz was ready to go back home and forget all about it. It was a cinch that all concerned were getting very restless over the delays.

Hubbell on Auction Block
Manager Bill Terry undoubtedly will keep his ace southpaw Carl Hubbell, but he came close to trading him outright to the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday for Pitcher Larry French and Outfielder Freddie Lindstrom. Terry tried hard to swing the deal, planning to keep French and use Lindstrom in a trade to Chicago for Outfielder Kiki Cuyler, but the Pirates sent French and Lindy to the Cubs in a straight trade for Pitchers Guy Bush, Jim Weaver and Outfielder Babe Herman. Whether Terry can find another deal attractive enough to stand Hubbell's loss is the question.

The Cubs, reorganized their ranks even faster than Owner Philip K. Wrigley promised, tried to swing a deal whereby they would get Pitcher Fred Frankhouse from the Boston Braves, but it fell through. The Cubs offered Third Baseman Stanley Hook, Catcher Babe Phelps and the veteran Charlie Root and the Braves wouldn't go for it, demanding a starting pitcher. Last winter Root might have filled the demand, but his career is near an end now.

McFayden Goes To Reds
Danny McFayden, the bespectacled pitcher obtained two years ago by the New York Yankees from Boston for a reported price of $60,000 and players, was sold last night to the Cincinnati Reds. Danny was a disappointment to the Yankees.

Another big deal that may be made before next season is sale of Oscar Melillo star St. Louis Brown second baseman, to the Red Sox for players and cash. Manager Roger Hornsby of the Browns wants plenty for his star and the Red Sox may give it to him.

Ten Buckeyes Will Take "Last Tackle," Traditional Event

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22.—For years and years there has been a tradition at Ohio State University that on the last night of practice the graduating members of the football squad take their last tackle at the dummy.

Coach Francis A. Schmidt, ending his first year as coach here, plans to continue that tradition. After the final workout for the Iowa game Friday night, "Schmitt" will lead 10 members of his squad onto the practice field for their "last tackle." The members are: Dave Jones, of Jackson; Jack Smith, Hamilton; John McAfee, Ironton; Damon Wetzel, Columbus; James Karcher, Forest; Bud Cox, Springfield; James Scott, Toledo; George Neal, Dayton; Regis Monahan, Lorain. State's all-America guard candidate, and George Kabealo, Youngstown.

Canton Bulldogs To Hear Schmidt

CANTON, Nov. 23.—Francis A. Schmidt, head football coach at Ohio State university, will be the principal speaker at a banquet of McKinley High school lettermen and out-of-town members of mythical annual all-Stark county team in the banquet room at Courtland hotel here Wednesday night.

Invitations have been mailed, in addition to the players, to Coaches Jimmy Aiken of McKinley, Paul Brown of Massillon and Leland Whitacre of Alliance. Appropriate awards will be presented the athletes during the ceremonies.

Goes To Cubs

Fred Lindstrom

The tireless hunt of Chicago's Cubs for a first-class southpaw hurler succeeded today at the big major-league player mart when they obtained their long-sought prize, Larry French, along with Outfielder Freddie Lindstrom, in a straight trade with Pittsburgh for Pitchers Guy Bush and Jim Weaver and Outfielder Babe Herman.

PITT TO FACE CARNEGIE TECH

Jock Sutherland's Panthers to Wind Up Season Thanksgiving

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Coach Jock Sutherland's Panthers of the University of Pittsburgh will wind up the so far highly successful football year of 1934 when they meet the scrappy clan of Tartans of Carnegie Institute of Technology from across Panther Hollow in the stadium on Thanksgiving Day.

During the year the Pitts have met some of the greatest names in football the section of the country can boast from one of the best on the Pacific coast to the cream of the Atlantic seaboard. Those Panthers gave the great Juggernaut that is Minnesota its hardest game, and went down before them to the score of 13-7; they riddled the champion Nebraska team of the Big Six Conference; and then sunk the best Navy team of many a year to the tune of 31-7.

Carnegie Tech, on the other hand, has had, until recently, one of its most disappointing seasons. They have been badly beaten by Temple and Notre Dame; they had a difficult time with Geneva and New York University. They have offset these losses by the splendid way in which they handed the high-scoring Night Riders of Duquesne University a narrow, but satisfying 3-0 defeat.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Nov. 23.—Two Philadelphians, Denny Shute and Leo Diegel, won their way today into the finals of the $5,000 Centenary Professional golf championship at the expense of fellow countrymen.

Shute, 1933 British open champion, took a close one from Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., when Wood missed an 18-inch putt which would have halved the 36th hole. Diegel annihilated Joe Einar, of Waco, Texas, 6 and 5. Shute shot a sensational morning card of 68. Shute and Diegel battle tomorrow for the $2,500 first prize.

BUTLER, Pa.—Joseph Schultz's defense to a charge of shooting a female pheasant was that he couldn't see the bird plainly. Thus, he won a discharge from Alderman John W. Byler on a charge of violating state game laws. But game wardens promptly re-arrested him, arraigned him again before Alderman Bixler and had him sentenced for 30 days, for firing at game not plainly visible, another violation of the state game laws.

Ian For Handling Cleveland Relief Coal Is Criticized

CLEVELAND, O.—The system of handling relief coal here is under fire. James E. Campbell, president of coal companies bearing his name, says the method of handling relief coal here is unequitable, and that the method of handling relief coal is used in Detroit. He points out, relief coal furnished all the dealers in town and relief families, with orders from headquarters, get their coal the place most convenient.

"Under the set-up here," he says, "only a few dealers, mostly those presented in the coal authority, handle relief coal. More than 200 dealers are on the outside looking in."

The Campbell company threatens to sue the city if the present proposal for a delivery charge of $1.75 a ton is carried out. "We offered to haul it for 59 cents a ton," he said, "and the coal companies favored by the city authority are paying the truck drivers 45 cents a ton for delivering it. That makes $1.30 the coal companies get just for making out the order. That money could be used for other relief purposes," he avers.

FREMONT, O.—Walter Soeldner opened the back door of his east market to admit the autumn breezes, and what should be in but a pheasant. The game warden assured him the bird was a pheasant.

Dyball, deceased (sometimes known as E. Dyball) filed her petition in the probate court within and for the county of Columbiana and State of Ohio, alleging that the personal estate of said deceased is insufficient to pay his debts, and that he died intestate in fee simple of the following described real estate:

FRUIT TRACT, situated in the city of Salem, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and known as and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at the northwest corner of Lot No. 278 in Zedek's addition, running East with the corner of the North line of said lot 150 feet to Broadway; thence South 54 feet to the line of land owned by John Nuebaum; thence West parallel with the first line 45 feet, thence South 4 feet, thence West 92 feet but to Elbert Street, and thence North 40 feet to the place of beginning, and being the same as the lot owned by the same Nuebaum, and being conveyed to Laura A. Gaudreau by Robert Nuebaum, and with the deed dated the 13th day of July, 1921, and recorded in Volume 189, page 462 of Columbiana County records. And being the same premises conveyed to Ernest E. Dyball by deed of William A. Moff, et al., dated April 29, 1928, recorded in Volume 233, page 161 of Columbiana County records. Further known as Door No. 324-41-42 So. Broadway, Salem, Ohio.

SECOND TRACT, situated in the city of Youngstown, County of Mahoning and State of Ohio, and known as being City Lot No. 633 according to the latest enumerations of City lots, formerly known as part of Lot 14, as shown by Plat recorded in Volume 1, page 51, Mahoning County record of Maps. Said City Lot No. 633 is bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point in the East line of Belmont Avenue where the same is intersected by the South line of City Lot No. 1915 and running thence South by said East line of Belmont Avenue 50 feet, thence East to a point on the West line of City Lot No. 634 which point is 100 feet North of the intersection of the West line of City Lot No. 634 with the Northern line of Haven Avenue, thence North by the West line of said City Lot No. 1915, thence West by the Court line of said City Lot No. 1915 to the place of beginning.

Being the same property which Frank L. Vinton, et al., by deed dated July 2, 1919, and recorded in the Recorder's Office of Mahoning County, Ohio, in deed book Vol. 243, page 337, granted and conveyed unto W. W. Martin, and being the same property which Manuel Sisman and Anna Sisman, his wife, by quit deed dated September 11, 1919, and recorded in the Recorder's Office of Mahoning County, Ohio, in deed book Vol. 243, page 337, granted and conveyed unto W. W. Martin, one of the parties of the first part hereto.

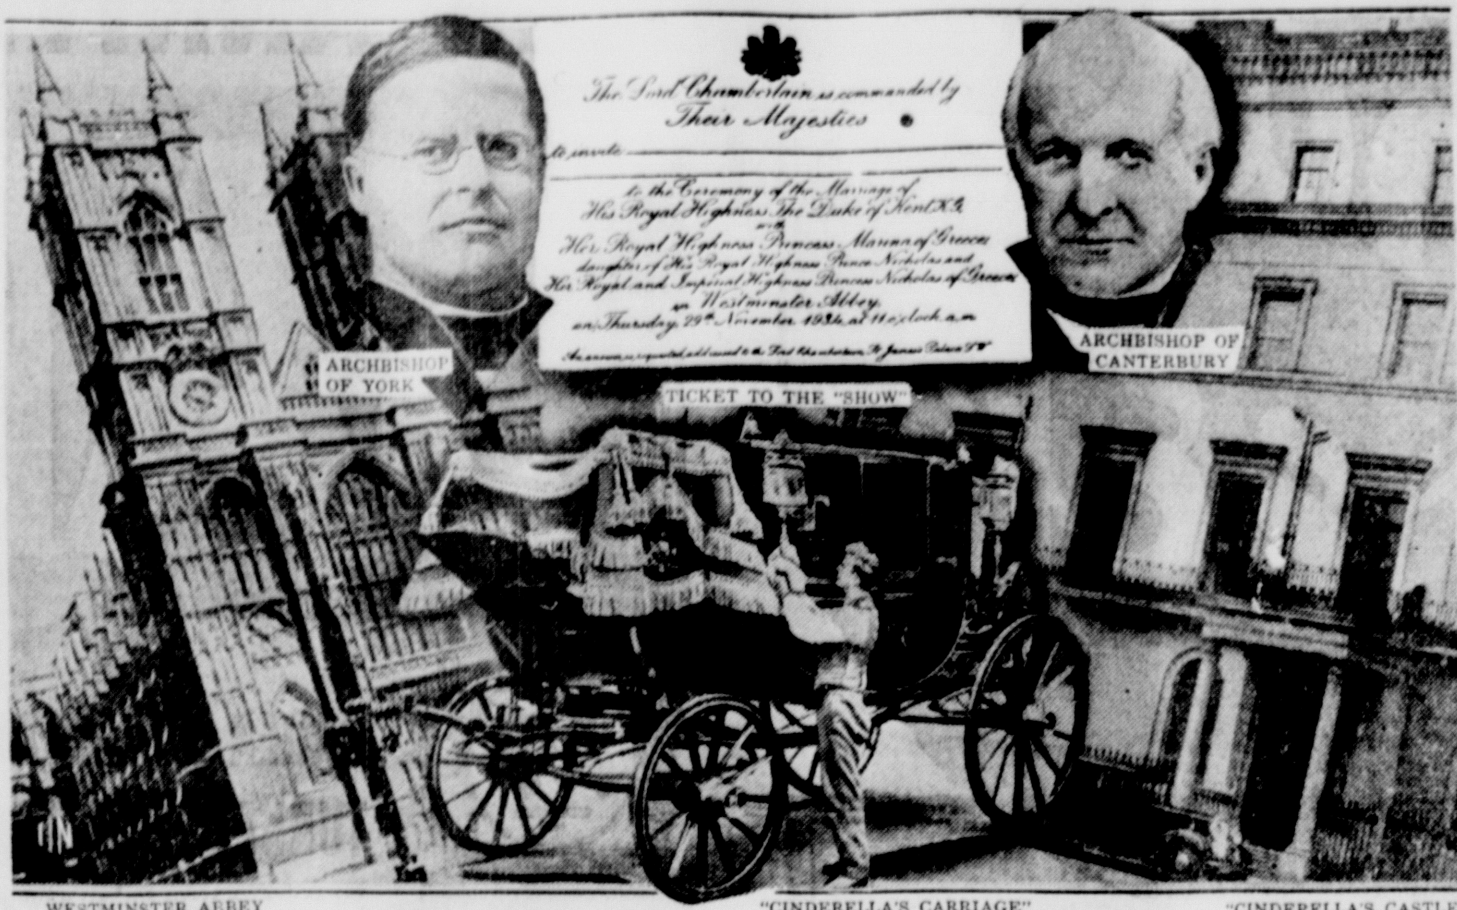

Also being the same premises conveyed to E. E. Dyball by deed of W. W. Martin, et al., dated March 23, 1922, recorded in Volume 289, page 16 of Mahoning County Records. Further known as Door No. 372 East Rayen Ave., Youngstown, Ohio. The prayer of said petition is for the sale of said premises, and for the payment of the debts aforesaid. The persons first above mentioned all further take notice that they have been made parties defendant to said petition and that they are required to appear at the same on or before the 15th day of December, 1934.

EMMA GRACE DYBALL, executrix under the last will and testament of Ernest E. Dyball, deceased. (Sometimes known as E. E. Dyball).

Scenes in Royalty's Biggest Show Since Great War

WESTMINSTER ABBEY

"CINDERELLA'S CARRIAGE"

"CINDERELLA'S CASTLE"

Royal houses will stage their most impressive pageant in 20 years as George Duke of Kent, son of King George V, and Marina, virtually penniless Greek princess, are married in Westminster Abbey by the Archbishop of York and Canterbury in an Anglican ceremony and by the Greek Orthodox bishop of London in an eastern church rite. Historic royal coach will carry the couple through throngs waiting in streets and keep them on exhibition for hours for edification of gaping commoners. But after the show is over and a honeymoon is spent in country, they'll settle down just like other couples in a prosaic London house shown above.

Aught Pleased After Elections

COLUMBUS, O.—Declaring that the trend toward curbing of beer among youth was "favorable," P. McNaught, superintendent of Ohio Anti-Saloon League, said he was "pleased" over some of the state's election results.

The legislature, which will meet in January, will be the first time in January since 1912 that the Anti-Saloon League's three-clause prohibition amendment has been passed.

McNaught asserted also that the trend toward restriction of beer to youth was "favorable," and also was "favorable" in the legislature's action to curtail the sale of beer to minors.

He said the Anti-Saloon League's trend is very favorable, and that the amendment of at least one of its provisions is a "good thing."

Harmony In Home" Is College Study

CLEVELAND, O.—Some college boys, students, harmony in home, discovered, that marriage does not mean "down" for either husband or wife.

Both husband and wife have a thorough understanding of social and economic conditions before the ceremony is made.

Both should spend their time together and the wife should not be kept constantly at home.

Today's Pattern

Pattern 2073

Dresses which are as smartly becoming to the young matron as they are to the college girl are few and far between, but the lovely design which we bring you today is just that. Dolman sleeves and an engaging pussy-cat bow combine to give the bodice an air of "this season chic." The slender skirt panels, back and front, are effectively used to produce that long, smooth unbroken line for which every woman who knows what's what in figure flattery earnestly seeks. For a snug and smart winter frock, make the dress of green or brown velvet or crepe and use metal-becked crepe for the contrasting sleeves.

Pattern 2073 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3 yards 39-inch fabric and 1 yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Adams pattern. Write plainly, giving name, address and style number. Be sure to state size.

Order your winter pattern book. Order it now! The new Adams patterns are stunning, and so easy to make! Designs for all ages and all occasions. Price of book, fifteen cents. Book and pattern together, twenty-five cents.

Prophets Fail as Road Show Business Perks Up

Prophets who predicted a dozen years ago that legitimate stage road shows would quickly die off, are still waiting. From Hollywood to Broadway, theaters are being repainted and seats dusted off for the biggest "legit" season in the recent memory of critics. Dozens of stars, led by George M. Cohan, Fannie Brice, Katharine Cornell, Helen Hayes, Walter Huston and Katharine Hepburn are treading the boards again in musical comedy, melodrama and romantic drama. Many actors and actresses now in movies must do their performing in coastal theaters in order to remain near sound studios. Although denied seeing these stars, hinterland theaters are receiving the aces of Broadway.

"Peck's Bad Boy" At Grand Saturday; State Shows Latest Arliss Film

SUPERB entertainment is offered at the Grand Saturday and Sunday with the showing of the old favorite, "Peck's Bad Boy," starring Jackie Cooper. An interesting note to the film is the return of Thomas Meighan in the role of the father. Others in the cast are Jackie Searl, the lad who plays those juvenile parts so very well; Dorothy Peterson, O. P. Heggie and Charles Evans.

Jackie Scores Again
Jackie Cooper seems the ideal boy for the title role. He has never been seen to better advantage than as the fine two-fisted boy who is nearly crowded out of his father's affection through the plotting of an unprincipled aunt and her no less unprincipled son. The oft-told and much beloved story is brought to the screen this time in a splendidly enacted, and paced entertainment film that will prove mighty interesting to adults as well as to children.

Jackie, as Bill Peck, believes himself to be the son of Henry Peck, widower and the pride and joy of his boy's heart. In reality, he is the adopted son of Henry, but the latter has never told him for he knows the heartache it would bring. The two are happy and content with each other's company until the arrival of Aunt Lily, sister of the dead Mrs. Peck, and her son Horace. Mother and son set about to alienate father and son, so that Horace may usurp Bill's place in the Peck household, thereby winning a place for Aunt Lily herself. They nearly succeed.

Happy Chimes
An episode adopted from the original book serves to bring the story to a climax by diverting to Bill the blame for a piece of mischief done by Horace. This is the celebrated "episode of the ants" and young Bill gets the blame as well as the thrashing. This piece of injustice on his father's part is the first exhibition Bill has had. Suffering from hurt pride, Bill is alone in his room when Horace comes and tells him the truth of his relationship with Peck. As a result Bill runs away from home.

The story reaches its conclusion on a note of profound human understanding that is as tender and human as anything ever done on the screen. Never overacted, the tale is handled in such a manner as to mingle a tear with each laugh and make it likeable.

Arliss Film Tonight
"THE LAST GENTLEMAN," George Arliss' latest picture, is at the State this evening and Saturday. With the stars are Edna May Oliver, Janet Beecher, Charlotte Henry, Ralph Morgan, Donald Meek, Edward Ellis, Frank Albertson, Rafaela Ottiano and Joseph Cawthorn.

Western Reserve Bans Beer Ads In Its Publications

CLEVELAND, O.—No beer advertisements will grace the pages of Western Reserve university publications.

That was the edict handed down by President Winford G. Leutner of the university here when student managers of the various publications started an editorial campaign to get the official clery to print such advertisements.

"Our professors drink beer, who shouldn't we?" they demanded. The banning of beer ads in our papers, they said, is history of the highest order, showing evidence of backward growth."

The provy and other student faculty advisors countered with "When prohibition was repealed, the whole matter was thrown back into the laps of educators. It is their function to show the effects of alcohol and to discourage its use by students and others."

"The college should, therefore, look askance on all matters that are likely to have an opposite effect, such as the appearance of beer ads in college publications."

"BEACH BEAUTY" by ARTHUR SHUMWAY

SYNOPSIS

Kay Owen, pretty Daytona Beach girl, finds a luxurious yacht, "Commander III," in her mooring place when she goes to dock her small motor launch. Inquiry reveals that the yacht belongs to Earl Harrow, noted theatrical producer. Kay is thrilled for she is the star of the local Community Players' amateur production, "Private Lives," and longs for a stage career. From the deckhouse Harrow admires Kay's beauty. In a conversation with his companion, "Spike" Winch, Harrow attributes his success to lucky breaks.

CHAPTER II

"And during the war how did I happen to get shot down three times and walk away every time and come home with a chest full of medals when such fellows as Guy-nemer who could fly and shoot circles around me are dead heroes? Breaks, Spike!"

"How did I happen to meet Carlotta Vestra and put over the biggest hit I ever touched? Breaks, Spike! McGinty, the dumb mick, was pie-eyed at the wheel and happened to nudge her car going through Central Park. How did it happen he didn't nudge a lamp post and get our necks broken? Breaks, Spike!"

"After a long silence, during which the two men finished their drinks, Spike said, 'Look, Earl, I got a swell idea.'"

"We're on this cruise for a rest," Harrow objected.

"Can't help it! This mighty brain of mine doesn't know how to rest. Listen, a lot of people in this town must go north a while every year. Stands to reason. And there's a lot of o'clock here. Why not drag yourself a little bit of publicity while we're at it? It won't hurt a bit."

"I thought you told the papers we were here?"

"I did, Earl, but I told them to lay off interviewing you till tonight."

Harrow began to smile. He was used to the idiosyncrasies of his tough little press agent and body-guard who always knew what he was about.

"And the gag?"

"Bunch of amateurs are giving a home talent party tonight," he said. "They're going to lay 'Private Lives' out in orchid."

"And what am I supposed to do? Make a curtain speech for them or lead cheers?"

"You can be seen there and give the boys a little story about how surprised you were to find such fine talent here. It'll put you in solid with all the hams and their mamas and papas and things. Just a neat little lecture, in passing, but it ought to be worth a lot. All these little things help as I've tried to keep telling you."

"But, my Lord, what could I say about an amateur production of 'Private Lives' that would be fit to print?"

"It'll be fit to print all right. I'll write it for you myself. And you say it—even if it makes every nerve in your body twitch like a cooch dancer."

Earl Harrow sighed. "All right," he said, "but as punishment you're going to have to come with me and sit through the whole show."

Spike Winch burlesqued a grimace of pain. "Ouch! You got me, pal. But I can take it; I can take it. I'll be there and without an anaesthetic, either."

So that night at eight the two men, dressed in yachting uniforms, were among the three hundred who filed into the Auditorium to see the Community Players' performance of "Private Lives." Spike had made Harrow wear his uniform so that he might stand out in the crowd and attract that attention which was Spike's pride.

The curtain rose at 8:15. Harrow arched an eyebrow and looked at Spike, holding up his wrist-watch. "Not bad," he said. "Just fifteen minutes. Amateurs must have changed since the last time I fell among them."

"I hope they've changed," Spike said sourly, from the corner of his mouth. "The last time I saw any it was a Junior League outfit doing 'Romeo and Juliet' in modern clothes. And the agony was beyond description. Tsk, tsk, the pity!"

Once the show was on the men sat without whispering and gave to the play more attention than they had expected. Only now and then did they exchange quick looks of pain, and several times Harrow nudged Spike and nodded approvingly. The truth was, it wasn't a bad production; as an amateur production it was unusually good.

During the first intermission Harrow turned to Spike. "That girl playing the lead," he said slowly, "she's not bad, you know. Really not bad."

Spike was grinning.

"What's the matter with you?" Harrow said. "With a little training and experience she'd be an actress of sorts. And she's gorgeous. I don't believe I've ever seen a girl any better looking."

Harrow smiled and settled into a more comfortable position in his seat. Spike, looking at him slyly, was still grinning. During the second and third acts Harrow nudged him whenever Kay Owen had a good speech or a clever bit of business that won her special attention.

After the show three operators pushed through the crowd to see Earl Harrow, but first the producer took out his card case, scribbled something on a card and handed it to Spike. "Little message to Garcia," he said. "Hop to it!"

Spike grinned and disappeared with the crowd.

"How'd you like the play, Mr. Harrow?" the first reporter asked. Earl Harrow summoned his most urbane manner. "Quite remarkable," he said. "As good a non-professional production as I ever saw. And, I might add, as good or better than some professional ones I've seen at times. Not that it was by any means perfect, you understand. But it was rather well directed and the cast had a good feeling, as a whole, for the typically Coward comedy of the thing. There weren't any Katharine Cornells or Barrymores, of course, no Lunts or Fontannes, but there was some good work just the same. I especially liked the girl that did the lead. What was her name?" He knew very well what it was.

"That was Kay Owen," another reporter said helpfully.

"Owen? Kay Owen? Yes, I believe so. Remarkable looking girl, isn't she?"

"She's the class of this town," the third reporter said.

"Is she? Then she must indeed be very pretty offstage, because I've been quite favorably impressed with the beauty of the young women of Daytona, quite favorably. In fact, I never saw a town with so many lovely women. Tell me, is it the climate?"

Spike had come back. Harrow looked at him secretly and Spike nodded, with still a trace of that knowing grin.

Harrow started gradually to edge away. "Are there any special questions you wanted to ask me?"

One reporter said, "How long are you going to stay in Daytona, Mr. Harrow?"

"Why two or three weeks at least," he said giving Spike a significant look. "I was on my way to Havana for a little pre-season rest, now that everything's ready in New York for my first opening and my assistants have everything in hand, but somehow I think I'll spend more time in and around Daytona Beach. You have splendid accommodations for boats," he said.

"Yeah, swell," Spike said, cocking an eyebrow at him.

As soon as Harrow could get away he hurried backstage with Spike.

"How did she take it?" he asked. "That's the funny part of it, Earl. Just like she was expecting it. Not highbrow or upstage or anything, nor dumb—I just can't say it exactly, but just as natural and easy as you please."

"Then she is an actress," said Earl Harrow, a man who knew his own importance.

Kay Owen sat in her dressing room waiting.

"Do I look funny?" she asked. "Dizzy or giddy or anything? Because that's how I feel!"

Pete Ryan, brown and big in his white linen, gave her a critical inspection. "No," he said. "But you know you always look good to me."

"Seriously, though, Pete. I want to make a good impression."

"Seriously," Pete said, sadly. He rose. "I guess I'd better barge."

"No, stay with me, darling. I want you here. I won't be able to open my mouth if somebody isn't around."

"No, he's probably expecting to see you alone," Pete said. "I'll be waiting in the flivver, though. Be good."

And Pete went out, sulking a little. Kay thought. She looked a moment at the door he had closed behind him, then sighed and turned again to the mirror.

She heard Spike Winch's knock. "Come in," she said.

The grinning little man opened the door and stood aside.

"Mr. Harrow, Miss Owen," he said.

said. Then he was gone.

"Won't you sit down, Mr. Harrow?" Kay asked.

"Thank you." He sank languidly into a chair and offered her a cigarette from a shining black case.

"I liked your work, Miss Owen," he said.

"Thank you, Mr. Harrow. I did as well as I could. I never had the good luck to see the play."

"You didn't?"

"Well, I seldom ever get away from Daytona."

"Then I should say you did do very well, starting from scratch. Have you had much experience?"

"Well, not any real experience. Mr. Harrow. Just what I've done with the Players here. I've been in four shows and I've had leads in the last three, counting this one."

"I think you have definite possibilities. Miss Owen. You need training, of course, and a little work with your voice, but you have a natural ability and the looks it takes to go with it. If I were you I think I'd try to get some training and really take acting seriously."

Kay smiled and looked for a moment at the floor. "I'm afraid I can't do that, though," she said.

"Why not?"

"Well, to be perfectly frank, I'm broke. I had to drop out of school, and I'm looking for a job. No, there wouldn't be a chance of going up north to study. Let's not even talk about it because I'm trying not to think about that sort of thing too much."

"I should think it might be worked out somehow," Earl Harrow said, studying the end of his cigarette as if it were something curious.

"Very few of the stars in our business came from Park Avenue, you know. Everybody in show business can look back at some hard times and sacrifices."

"Well," she said, "I don't like to sound like a spineless little pessimist or as if I just didn't care, but I'm afraid my case is different. I have to stay here and help my family."

Earl Harrow was thoughtful.

"You say you're looking for a job?" he said.

"Yes, but I haven't found a thing."

"I wonder, I wonder." He tapped his long white fingers on the chair arm as he paused, pursing his lips.

"Miss Owen, I'm going to be here two or three weeks and while this is really a little rest cure trip for me—I overworked getting things in shape for the season—I've really a lot of detail that has to be gone over. Now Spike—Mr. Winch, that is—is a good press agent and used to be the perpetual next lightweight champion of the world—but he isn't much on neatness with a typewriter. He just hammers it out, hunt and pick, you know. Of course, you can type?"

"Yes, Mr. Harrow."

"I wonder, then, if you'd care to help me out. And we can talk over the rest of it as we go along. Because, from a purely artistic point of view, I'd really like to help you."

Kay Owen was afraid she looked very silly and that her voice sounded as strange to Earl Harrow as it did to her when she said.

"Why—thank you ever so much. I'd do the best I could."

A BRAND NEW STYLE

A Handsome Tapestry Suite

$59

The price of a 2-piece suite is no indication of its quality. It is handsomely tailored and contains many built-in features that guarantee its long life and permanent comfort. See it tomorrow.

ASTOUNDING LOW PRICE

The Vogue in Bedroom Suites

$57

This fall has seen the manufacture of many unusually beautiful furniture designs. The suite pictured above is one of the finest. At this special price you will find the bed, chest and your choice of either of the other pieces.

A MODERN DESIGN

Direct From the Factory . . .

$79

This suite reached us from the factory only last week and when it was placed upon our floors we knew that it would prove to be a "hit." Includes buffet, extension top table and six chairs.

Thanksgiving Special!

Full Size Roaster

$1.00
